Nelson Sees No Conflict With Study

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Gov. Gaylord Nelson, titular leader of the Wisconsin Democratic party, expects the party to maintain its traditional opposition to a state sales tax when it holds its annual convention in Milwaukee next week.

But such a convention attitude, he told reporters at a news conference this morning, won't be in conflict with his own program of studying fundamental tax revision through

Nelson Decries Second Legislature Recess

Madison — Gov. Gaylord Nelson said today he can not believe that Republican party leaders are "seriously" inclined toward a second legislative recess to await recommendations of a citizens committee on tax revision.

"Such a proposal," he told his weekly news conference, "might create complete chaos."

his revenue survey commission or his repeated advice to his followers and other citizens to keep an open mind on tax issues until the commission reports.

The governor said he would not regard an anti-sales tax resolution at the convention as unfriendly to him or his program. The party has a right to maintain its traditional stand, he said, but he is also confident that it will support his program for basic studies that may lead to changes later after all the facts are disclosed and there has been a public recognition of them.

Newsman pressed him hard this morning about the possibilities of conflict between his

Father Wagner, Famed As Builder of Shrine, Dies at Stevens Point

Stevens Point — The Rev. Philip J. Wagner, pastor of St. Philomena Roman Catholic church at Rudolph for the past 42 years and builder of a well-known shrine to the Virgin Mary, died in a hospital here Sunday at the age of 76.

Father Wagner was ordained at Innsbruck, Austria, in August of 1915. He then came to the United States and served as an assistant at St. Joseph Cathedral at La Crosse. He was named pastor at Rudolph in 1917.

Before he was ordained, Father Wagner was in ill health and visited the famous shrine at Lourdes, France, where he vowed to build a shrine to the Virgin Mary if he became well again.

He started work on the $100,000 shrine in 1928 in a field adjacent to St. Philomena church. In 1953, the last major addition to the shrine was a 75-ton boulder taken from a farmer's field.

New Canyon Tale Set in North Canada

Mindee Ludeesch, the latest in a long line of Milton Caniff characters, appears in the new story in Steve Canyon starting in today's Post-Crescent.

Col. Canyon is riding herd on a bunch of bachelor veteran airmen who call themselves Shanty's gypsies at a top secret testing base in northern Canada. The arrival of Mindee Ludeesch (La Dish) to run the local trading post complicates matters both romantically and strategically.

Don't miss this exciting suspense-filled adventure every day on the Post-Crescent's comic pages.

Western Leaders To Confer Dec. 19 In French Capital

Hope to Reach Agreement On Negotiations With Russia

Washington — President Eisenhower and the heads of Britain, France and West Germany will meet in Paris Dec. 19 to work out a solid western stand for talks with Russia.

Agreement on the date and place of the meeting was announced in the four capitals yesterday. The White House said Eisenhower will return here in time to spend Christmas with his family.

Prime subjects for discussion at the Paris meeting appeared to be:

1. When do the leaders meet with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a summit conference?

2. On what issues, if any will they compromise in negotiations with him?

Reports from London yesterday said that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will go to Paris determined that the summit conference with Khrushchev be held in January or February. President Charles de Gaulle of France has insisted that the conference be delayed until spring, at the earliest. It is believed Eisenhower leans toward Macmillan's position.

Concessions Favored
On the second question, observers believe Macmillan is willing to make concessions to Khrushchev, settling the Berlin issue before reaching an agreement on German unity. But de Gaulle feels that the Russians "are responsible for the crises in the world. He believes that if there are concessions to be made, the Russians must make them. The statements of Eisenhower indicate he tends to agree with de Gaulle on this issue.

The fourth leader, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany, will not attend the summit conference with Khrushchev.

At the Paris conference, Bonn sources indicate, he will confine himself to discussions of the German and West Berlin problems.

BY JIMMIE S. PAYNE
Manzanillo, Mexico — There were no flowers for the dead here on this All Souls' day, none of the family picnics that usually followed the annual visits to graves of loved ones on this religious festival.

Instead, thousands of dazed and bewildered men, women and children—homeless and hungry—shuffled aimlessly among ruins that once had been their homes or took to the roads in search of food and shelter.

They were the survivors of the hurricane, floods and landslides which ravaged Mexico's Pacific coast states of Jalisco and Colima last Tuesday.

1,500 Deaths
An estimated 1,500 persons died. Many of the bodies are still missing.

The governor of Colima said officials would begin making another check on the number of dead today by coincidence the day on which Roman Catholics give special remembrance to their dead.

Relief supplies of food, medicine, clothing and some building materials are coming into the stricken area by air, road and sea, but they are hardly enough to meet immediate needs.

Rail lines which can handle larger shipments are still closed. Officials said it will be Thursday before the line to this port is cleared of slides.

Most of the residents of this battered port and other damaged towns appeared determined to remain rooted and rebuild. But some dazedly walked the road toward Colima, aimlessly seeking places for new homes.

The government has ordered a vast reconstruction program and has announced it will give credits for the people to start new lives.

While work parties cleared away wreckage looking for missing dead there were fears that the toll might raise above 1,500.

Mayor Antonio Ramos Salido of Colima said there are hundreds—perhaps as many as 2,000 persons—who lived in isolated groups in remote mountain areas whose fate is unknown.

Union Denies Validity of Taft Labor Act

Provisions for 80-Day Injunction Challenged in Brief

Washington — The United Steelworkers union contended today the 80-day injunction provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor act are unconstitutional.

The union acted as mediator efforts resumed here. In a 97-page legal brief filed with the court, the Steelworkers said the law attempts to give federal courts powers which go beyond the limits of the constitution. It asserted:

"The simple contention is, simply, that under the Taft-Hartley act, federal courts are asked to issue an injunction which is no part of the judicial function of adjudicating justiciable controversies."

The government, in a reply brief, held that the law is constitutional.

Meetings Resumed
As the union carried its fight on Taft-Hartley to the highest court, industry and union negotiating teams were summoned before federal mediators during the morning for inconclusive separate sessions. Further meetings were set for the afternoon.

In the legal maneuvering, the government told the high court the steel strike already has resulted in such unemployment as to "fully establish the imminence of great economic disruption."

The supreme court has scheduled oral arguments beginning at 11 a.m. tomorrow on validity of the 80-day injunction issued by U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert Sog in Pittsburgh, and upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

In its brief filed today, the union again challenged the district court's finding that the strike imperils the national health or safety.

Airliner Nearly Runs Into Truck

Jackson, Mich. — A North Central airlines plane with 10 persons aboard narrowly avoided colliding with a truck parked on an airport runway as it came in for a landing Sunday night. No one was hurt.

The pilot, Capt. Charles Jack, of Madison, Wis., said he did not see the truck until he touched down for a landing. Jack said he swerved the ship around the truck, narrowly missing it.

A man found slumped at the wheel of the pickup truck, parked without lights, was held for investigation of drunkenness. Police said the man identified himself as Ralph Campbell, 41, and told them he could not recall driving onto the runway.

The plane, carrying seven passengers and three crew members, was enroute from Detroit to Chicago.

Single Survivor Tells Of Crash in Virginia

Charles Van Doren Talks with Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) today in Washington before testifying about his role as a TV quiz winner three years ago. Van Doren's lawyer, Carl J. Rubino, is in the center.

Followed Script in Quiz Show, Van Doren Admits

Coached on Mannerisms as Well as Answers, He Asserts

Washington — (AP)— Charles Van Doren, his boyish face drawn and his eyes bloodshot, confessed today he followed script in giving the apparently impromptu answers which made him a TV quiz show celebrity.

"I was deeply involved in a deception," Van Doren told house investigators. He also confessed he gave false testimony to a New York grand jury investigating the quiz shows.

The youthful professor, intellectual scion of a noted literary family, admitted he had given the wrong answers in denying previously the show on which he won $129,000 was rigged in his favor.

Van Doren's appearance before the house subcommittee conducting its own quiz into TV question and answer programs was as dramatic as his weekly displays of mental wizardry on the since abolished "Twenty-One" show.

The hearing room was packed as Van Doren entered from a side door to evade reporters and photographers.

Only those who could squeeze into the chamber were able to see Van Doren relate the details of a personal ordeal in which he wrestled with his conscience and finally bowed to a producer's urging that he rehearse the baffling questions and answers which made him famous.

The hearing, under house

Wounded by Spear From Fishing Gun

Miami — "When it hit, I didn't feel anything."

Army Sgt. Bill Morris, 33, was lying in a hospital bed telling about being speared by a fishing gun.

Rowell, a novice at the underwater sport, accidentally fired the spear when Morris touched him in water two to three feet deep.

Morris said he saw bubbles and tried to bring his left arm forward. "I couldn't—the spear was there."

"I stopped dead," he said, "and I tried to stop my cousin so he wouldn't pull me. I had to feel for the spear and where it went in."

Painful to Move
Morris never lost consciousness and remained cool. "There wasn't too much pain—except when you moved."

Rowell and others tried to carry him 100 feet to shore. "But that didn't work," Morris said, "so I eased myself forward until I couldn't any more."

He held his 186-pound, 5-foot-11 body still and in the same diagonal position as the spear until the ambulance arrived.

Ambulance attendants waded into the shallow water to carry Morris to shore.

Slayer Kills Self After Shooting Friend to Death

Milwaukee — "I'm at 1500 N. Thirty-Fifth street," the voice told a police telephone operator. "My buddy just shot me and then shot himself."

Police rushed to the address and found two men mortally wounded. Samuel Moroz, 20, shot twice in the abdomen, died soon after arrival at County Emergency hospital. Sam Fallon, 37, wounded in the left side of the head, died several hours later.

Detectives had found Moroz slumped on a coach with the phone nearby. Fallon was lying on his back on the floor and a .32 caliber pistol was near him.

Police said the two men were among 20 persons attending a Halloween party at Fallon's apartment until it broke up about 2 a.m. Sunday.

McCormick told newsmen, "The fire was all over the car. I lost control and hit the ditch about 50 yards down the road. When I got a look at the house, it was a complete wreck and Mrs. Shoup was running across the yard with her clothing afire."

McCormick was uninjured. Shaken neighbors beat out the flames and hustled the screaming woman to Miami Valley hospital.

The pilot, Maj. James W. Bradbury, 34, ejected at low altitude when his craft lost power on takeoff.

The house, a converted brick school building, is located about eight miles south of Wright-Patterson Air Force base where Maj. Bradbury is director of flight and all-weather operations in the field's operations branch.

A base spokesman said the flight was intended to be a low altitude for zoom-climb training.

26 Die as Craft Hits Mountain

Waynesboro, Va. — "Things were all quiet, no moans, no groans."

This was the way a 33-year-old union official described the immediate aftermath of a crunching impact against a Virginia mountainside in which 26 persons aboard a twin-engine airliner lost their lives and he alone survived.

"I yelled to see if anyone else was alive, but no one answered," said E. Phil Bradley of Clifton Forge, Va., as he told of his 36-hour ordeal in the wilderness following the crash of the Piedmont airlines DC3 Friday night.

He suffered a dislocated hip and minor cuts.

Within a few hours after Bradley was taken to a hospital yesterday at Charlottesville, 26 bodies, wrapped in tarpaulins, were laboriously carried to the summit of cliff-studded Bucks Elbow mountain now Virginia's famed skyline drive.

Bradley, who said he noticed his watch showed 8:40 moments after the crash, was first reached at the wreck scene by air force Sgt. John Weis of Pittsburgh.

Last Message Friday
The plane, en route from Washington to Roanoke, was last heard from at 8:24 p. m. Friday, when the pilot requested landing instructions at Charlottesville. At that time the plane was believed to be about six minutes from touchdown.

The wreckage 18 miles west of Charlottesville was not sighted until 8:30 a. m. yesterday.

Bradley, who was seated near the rear of the plane was thrown from the cabin still strapped in his seat. Because of his dislocated hip, he remained upright in the seat some five feet from the wreckage until rescuers arrived.

With a pole he managed to fish for a coat and blankets to warm him in the chilly mountain air.

Weis reported Bradley's first words were: "I'm all right. Go on up and see if anybody else is alive."

Bradley said the pilot never gave any indication there was anything wrong.

Of the actual crash, it "sounded like the roaring of an ocean," he said. "The only sensation was the wings cutting the tops of trees."

Asked when he realized he was the only survivor, he said:

"I can't say I ever really knew."

Mrs. Dore Didn't Take Own Life, Coroner Thinks

Kenosha — "Coroner Ed Wavro said today that the presence of a steaming vaporizer in Mrs. Virginia Kraft Dore's room the night she was found dead indicated that she did not take her own life."

Wavro emphasized, however, that he was not prepared to make a ruling or whether to call a coroner's jury until after he had received a report from the state crime laboratory. That report is expected sometime early this week.

Mrs. Dore, 39, manager of the Honey Bear Farm near Genoa City, was found dead in her bedroom Oct. 24. Death was blamed on carbon monoxide poisoning. The engine of an automobile parked in a garage beneath the bedroom was running.

Sun sets at 4:43 p.m., rises Tuesday at 6:32 a.m.; moon sets at 6:28 p.m.

Thirty-Three Year old E. Phil Bradley smiles as he is taken from the scene of Piedmont Airlines plane crash near Waynesboro, Va. Bradley was the only survivor.

2 Young Sisters Killed Jet Fighter Crashes Into Dwelling in Ohio

Dayton, Ohio — "A jet completely enveloped my car," F104 Starfighter crashed broadside into a house near here today and buried itself in the ruins. Two young sisters were killed. The pilot ejected to safety.

Their mother, Mrs. Grace Shoup, 37, ran from the house, her clothing in flames after the supersonic craft crushed the house and exploded. She is in critical condition.

House Wrecked
The sisters were Lynn Shoup, 12, and Laura, 2. Their brothers, Billy, 10, and Tommy, 8, were in school. Lynn, a sixth-grader, was to have reported for her half-day session of school at noon. Their father, John, was at work at the National Cash Register company.

Wallace McCormick, 27, of Xenia was driving past the house when the plane hit.

Propose Sweeping Rail Work Changes

Expect Requests to be the Most Disputed in Labor History; Deal With So-Called 'Featherbedding'

Chicago — The nation's railroads today present their controversial proposals for changing work rules to five railroad operating unions representing 210,000 members.

The proposals, which may turn out to be the most disputed in recent labor history, were made public yesterday by the Association of American Railroads (AAR) in advance of presentation to the unions.

The issue about which the proposals center is what the railroads term "featherbedding" — forced payment for work neither done nor needed.

The railroads claim present work rules for operating personnel cost them more than $500 million annually.

Some of the working agreements which the railroads seek to change have been in effect for about 40 years. A 3-year moratorium against changing the rules expired Saturday.

Correct Abuses
The proposals, says the AAR, would correct abuses in areas where unnecessary positions are being staffed, wasteful jurisdictional work divisions exist and multiple pay is exacted for single-term work.

The unions object to any work rule changes. They argue that the present rules are essential to safety and efficient rail transportation.

The five unions involved are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, The Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, The Switchmen's Union of North America, The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

The railroads are represented in negotiations by the eastern, western and southeastern carriers conference committees.

These are the changes proposed by the railroads:

1. Revision of the 40-year-old pay standard, based on mileage, for engine and train crews to reflect increased train speeds.

2. Elimination of rules prohibiting crews from operating through present crew-change points, in order to end multiple changes on short train runs and permit crew operations to be extended in keeping with higher train speeds.

Arbitrary Lines
3. Erasure of arbitrary lines drawn between the work that may be performed by road crews and yard crews.

4. Establishment of the right for management to determine when firemen should be used on diesel and other non-steam locomotives in freight and yard service.

5. Elimination of all rules which stipulate the number of crew members required.
6. Ending of rules which require idle standby operating employees when self-propelled equipment is used in track maintenance, repair of inspection.

L. T. Merchant Appointed to Murphy Post

Washington — Over the years, Livingston T. Merchant has acquired the reputation of a hard working civil servant on whom you can rely to get a job done.

Now it's paying off with his elevation to the No. 3 job in the state department.

President Eisenhower picked Merchant Saturday to become under secretary for political affairs when Robert D. Murphy retires next month. He has been Murphy's deputy.

Merchant has been a top staff man at several recent international conferences. He stood out during the 1955 summit conference at Geneva, where he generally was considered the man on whom Eisenhower and the late John Foster Dulles relied most for counsel.

Little Policy Change
Since the death of Sec. of State Dulles, several personnel changes have convinced some observers that men closely allied with Dulles policies were losing influence.

But Merchant has been closely identified with the policies of Dulles, as has Murphy. Little change in policy is expected with Merchant instead of Murphy in the third ranking job.

Merchant started late in state department service, but has few peers in all-around experience. A financier before entering government service during World War II, Merchant has had assignments covering Europe, the Far East, and Canada.

High School Pupil Killed During Halloween Prank

Chanute, Kan. — A Chanute High school honor student, Jim McCune, was shot fatally during a Halloween prank.

Police Chief Lige Matlock said the 16-year-old boy was shot accidentally by Charles Doudna, 27, a city electric plant employee who had volunteered as a watchman to curb vandalism Saturday night.

Doudna was arraigned on a charge of fourth degree manslaughter and released on $10,000 bond.

Chief Matlock said Doudna saw young McCune and another boy toss a wooden bench into a drainage sewer at the edge of a park.

Pursuing the boys, Doudna stepped into a hole, causing

Court Battle Looming Over $9 Million Gift

Executor Thinks Money Should Go to Adopted Children of Rockefeller Kin

New York — The Juilliard School of Music and the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts may face a court battle to get $9 million left by a granddaughter of the late John D. Rockefeller.

Clarence Francis, chairman of the center's fund-raising campaign, announced yesterday that a trust committee had selected Juilliard to receive the money. He said the school could spend it either on new construction at the Lincoln center or to finance any of its programs.

But an executor of the estate, Thomas G. Chamberlain, said the four adopted children of the granddaughter, the late Mrs. Murial McCormick Hubbard, should get the money. Chamberlain added, however, that an out-of-court settlement could avoid a fight.

Francis said the trust was created by Rockefeller in 1917 for Mrs. Hubbard. At her death, it was to go either to her children or to charity, he said. Mrs. Hubbard, 56, died last March 18.

The adopted children — Jackie, 6, Hal, also 6, Elisha, 4, and Anna, 1 — live with their guardian, Miss Catherine M. Dwyer, at Mrs. Hubbard's home, Lone Tree farm, Midleton, Conn.

Legal Steps
Francis said lawyers for the Chase Manhattan bank, trustee of the trust, said the adopted children are ineligible for the money since it was to be handed down to Mrs. Hubbard's "issue." He said Chase Manhattan will take legal steps necessary to turn over the money to Juilliard.

"It would be morally wrong," said Chamberlain, "and represent a shocking miscarriage of justice if these adopted children should be deprived of their inheritance."

He said Mrs. Hubbard's will "made her intention very clear that her four adopted children should inherit the principal of this trust on her death."

Kennedy Back Of Gov. Brown in California Talks

Los Angeles — Sen. John F. Kennedy is drawing big crowds in Gov. Edmund Brown's backyard. But he doesn't think other Democrats should tangle with Brown in a California primary election.

"He is a favorite son of a large state," the Massachusetts Democrat told a TV audience of the California governor Sunday. "The Democrats have been out of power for a long time."

"Most leaders are reluctant to see a primary divided... he has done an excellent job as governor. He is entitled as a potentially serious candidate to have his state uncontested."

Kennedy arrived in Los Angeles Sunday for a 2-day stay. He is on a 4-day tour of the state, speaking mostly before college gatherings and Democratic groups.

On the locally televised TV program he emphasized that he wouldn't say until next January if he'll run for president himself. Said Kennedy: "Ecclesiastes tells us there is a time for everything."

Sen. Maier Enters Race in Milwaukee

Milwaukee — State Sen. Henry Maier, Democratic floorleader in the upper house since 1950, announced Saturday that he would be a candidate for mayor of Milwaukee.

Maier, 41, is the second Milwaukeean to announce his candidacy to succeed Mayor Frank Zeidler, who said Friday he would not be a candidate for a fourth term.

George Bowman, Jr., 41, an assistant city attorney, was the first.

1959 Highway Toll Increases to 673 For Wisconsin

Milwaukee — Six deaths Sunday pushed Wisconsin's weekend highway toll to 12 and the total for the year to 673, compared with 680 a year ago today.

Earl Schettl, 19, of Oshkosh, died in a hospital there Sunday of injuries suffered Saturday night when his auto left a city street and smashed against a utility pole. Three other persons suffered minor injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bandor, Stanley, both in their 70s, were killed Sunday when their car and another vehicle collided about eight miles north of Thorp on Highway 73.

Keith H. Freisinger, 30, Dubuque, Iowa, died Sunday when the car in which he was riding left Lafayette county Trunk W and crashed a quarter mile east of Hazel Green.

2-Car Crash
Mrs. Mildred M. Huston, 75, Madison, died in a hospital Sunday a few hours after she was injured in a 2-car crash on Highways 12-13 near Madison.

Danny Segal, 2, Glidden, died in a hospital at Park Falls Sunday of the injuries suffered in a crash on old Highway 13 north of Glidden Saturday night.

Mrs. Barbara Segal, 29, Milwaukee, was killed in the crash and her two children injured. Danny's mother, Mrs. Lawrence Segal, 32, suffered a badly cut knee and her two other children were injured.

Rhys I. Ball, 18, Racine, was killed Saturday as the car in which he was a passenger veered out of control on Highway 50 about 11 miles west of Kenosha. Ball was thrown from the vehicle and pinned under a rear wheel.

Richard Hartleben, 21, Shawano, was killed Saturday when the car he was riding in went out of control on Highway 22 near Shawano, overturned and hit an embankment.

Archpriest of St. Peter's Dies at 86

Vatican City — Federico Cardinal Tedeschini, 85, archpriest of St. Peter's basilica, died early today.

First reports said death was due to intestinal cancer, for which he recently underwent surgery.

He was one of the senior members of the College of Cardinals, having been named a prince of the church by Pope Pius XI in 1933.

His death reduces the College of Cardinals to 71 members. Pope John XXIII increased the college to 74 a year ago after its size had been limited to 70 members for nearly 400 years.

Tall, handsome and of stately bearing, Cardinal Tedeschini won recognition for his work as the Vatican's nuncio in Spain from 1921 until 1935, a period which saw the overthrow of the monarchy and an anti-church campaign by the Republican government that followed.

His elevation to the College of Cardinals was considered to be at least partly in recognition of his work in Spain.

Cardinal Tedeschini was born at Androdo, a mountain hamlet in central Italy. He was ordained a priest in 1896 and soon after was called to the office of assistant secretary of state.

Rebellion in Algeria Moves Into Sixth Year With Usual Terrorism

Daily Average 80 Rebels Killed Or Captured, French Declare

Algiers — The Algerian nationalist rebellion against French rule began its sixth year yesterday with the usual daily hit-and-run terrorism and French military operations in the mist-shrouded mountains.

Terrorist attacks killed 4 persons and wounded 39 at various points in the North African territory. Military casualties for the day were not announced. But the daily average, according to French figures, is about 80 rebels killed or captured, and 10 killed and 50 wounded in the French forces.

Long For Peace
The longing for peace was great among the North African Algerians and nine million Moslems. But peace seemed far away in the atmosphere of suspicion, fear and despair.

Rebels struck in bands and individually in Algiers and other cities yesterday taking a toll of casualties among French civilians and soldiers and Moslems alike.

Terrorists threw bombs and grenades into cafes and crowded streets, let loose with machinegun fire, derailed a train 25 miles south of Algiers and cut high tension wires near Sidi Aissa. A village chief was kidnapped and killed near Ain-Temouchent. A French territorial guard was killed by a rebel patrol in Affreville, southwest of Algiers.

The semi-official French news agency said about 250,000 persons have been killed, injured or imprisoned since the rebellion broke out Nov. 1, 1954.

The Breakdown
The agency gave this breakdown: 120,000 rebels killed, 60,000 taken prisoner; 10,000 French soldiers killed, 22,000 wounded; 1,700 European civilians killed, 4,500 wounded, 300 missing; 12,000 Moslem civilians killed, 9,000 wounded, 10,000 missing.

There have been gestures towards negotiations to end the fighting, but these have aroused misgivings among both the Europeans and rebels.

The French government only three days ago gave assurance to worried Europeans and their Moslem collaborators that France would not abandon the territory or engage in political negotiations with the rebels.

Unknown Trickster Halloween 'Treats' Make Children Ill

Fremont, Calif. — Police said today that trick-or-treat "candy" given to 30 children Halloween night probably was a powerful laxative, non-poisonous but not suited for children.

More than a dozen youngsters who ate the sugar-coated heart-shaped pills became violently ill, vomiting and suffering diarrhea until Sunday.

Police said a number of the children pointed out the home of an unidentified Centerville resident as the place where the pills were put in their trick-or-treat bags.

Denies 'Trick'
Patrolmen called on the man and reported he flatly denied giving the kids anything but lollipops. There was no charge filed immediately and the man was not held.

Dist. Atty. J. Frank Coakley said he had not received a full report but "if a crime has been committed, most certainly we will prosecute."

Police received a flood of calls from complaining parents. After the first few, they began a systematic canvass of 250 homes in one Centerville area, waking residents and telling them to check their children's bags for the pills. Officers had confiscated more than 450 pills by 3 a.m. Sunday, when their search ended.

The pills were taken to an Oakland laboratory for analysis after several physicians tentatively said they appeared to be a bitter aloes, a strong purgative.

Fremont is 35 miles southeast of San Francisco.

Granville Sharp Leader in Fight To Abolish Slavery in England

By CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

It required a certain amount of courage to include in this series on unsung heroes the name of Granville Sharp for there was in him much which men detest. Granville Sharp was a busybody, a meddler in the affairs of others. He was vindictive, conceited, a "dogooder" of the worst sort, and he lived off his brother and mother.

It would be difficult to like Mr. Granville Sharp (1735-1813) except that he was a hero by modern standards.

When the American south accepted slavery it was prompted to do so by cupidity and also by the unique elements of economic pressure. But history has shown, and will continue to show for many, many years to come, that this acceptance has harmed and wounded the United States for centuries to come.

House

It might have happened in England and it would have had not the middle-some busybody who is today's subject been what he was.

When Sharp was 30 years old, a chance meeting with a young Negro, Jonathon Strong became the trigger which started him off on his unpopular campaign.

Sharp found the young Negro wandering the streets of London, dazed, hungry, and discarded as "useless" by his master, David Lisle, an attorney. The Negro had been a slave to Lisle and when he had grown ill, Attorney Lisle simply dismissed him.

Found Him Work

Our hero for today — too good to take Jonathon into his home—found employment for him with a druggist. Also, he assisted in bringing Jonathon back to reasonable health. Jonathon worked for two years for the druggist. But on the street one day he was seen by his former master who noted his apparent good health and wanted him back in service. The attorney followed him to the druggist's home, then sent two constables to arrest him and return him. Jonathon, he said, was his property.

Lawyer Lisle intimidated the druggist and threatened to persecute him for the illegal detention of his "property." The druggist quickly returned Jonathon to his former master.

When Granville Sharp attempted to intervene, the attorney challenged him to a duel which Sharp promptly declined. Now Sharp seems to have become eager for revenge. He took the case to court where it was shown that Lisle had purchased the Negro in the West Indies, that he retained the bill of sale and that there were no laws prohibiting slavery, and that some years before an attorney general had ruled that a slave does not necessarily gain his freedom simply by coming from the West Indies to England. Sharp lost his case and the attorney kept Jonathon.

Sharp's form of heroism was based on tenacity. When he could find no recourse among lawyers, he embarked upon the study of law. He was widely advised to let the matter drop but he would not. The nation in general considered him a vengeful busybody who was attempting to obtain not the freedom of Jonathon Strong, but revenge upon the lawyer.

Test Case Set Up

Granville Sharp, however, succeeded in 1770 stirring up a test case concerning another Negro slave, James Somerset. After tedious litigation the court ruled: "Immemorial usage preserves a positive law after the occasion or accident which gave rise to it is forgotten; and tracing the subject to natural principles, the claim of slavery never can be supported. The power (to retain a slave) never was in use here, or acknowledged by the law, and therefore the man (Somerset) must be discharged."

Thirty years later, the British Parliament declared traffic in slaves to be illegal. Mr. Granville Sharp had — whether through con-

Shirley Booth To Leave Play 'Loss of Roses'

Washington — (U) — Actress Shirley Booth says she will leave the Pulitzer prize-winning William Inge play, "A Loss of Roses," before it reaches Broadway.

The play, due to open in New York on Thanksgiving, is having a tryout at the National theater in Washington.

"It's a third rate part," Miss Booth said of her role in the play.

"I didn't want to do it in the first place, but I had faith in Inge and in Daniel Mann's directing."

"I thought maybe they'd develop the problem of the mother and the son a little more," she continued, "but they're not going to and there is nothing else for me to do. It's not that I'm telling them what to do, but rather what I'm not going to do."

In the play, Miss Booth has the part of a widow who sees her 21-year-old son fall in love with a middle-aged actress. Critics have said the role of the actress, played by Carol Haney, is the major one in the play.

Inge won the Pulitzer in 1953 for his play, "Picnic." He also wrote "Bus Stop," "Dark at the Top of the Stairs," and "Come Back Little Sheba," which starred Miss Booth.

science or a need for revenge — saved Great Britain from the kind of self-inflicted wound suffered so long by the United States. And, coincidentally, he freed the slaves.

Fall Weather Heralds Season Of Colds, Virus Infections

By Carl N. Neupert, M. D.
State Health Officer

"When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock," beware; another sneezin' season is a-lurking in the air!

So spoke a friend of ours in just one day recently as he misquoted James Whitcomb Riley in anticipation of the cold-catching months ahead.

Despite the jest the statement does underline the fact that colds and other respiratory infections are more prevalent in the fall and winter months. Anyone who is suffering from them will probably find little humor in the fact that his bronchitis, influenza or just plain sniffles is a highly contagious disorder.

Respiratory infections are caused by either bacteria or viruses. Bacteria are responsible for such ailments as "strep" throat or staphylococcal infections. Viruses, on the other hand, produce illnesses ranging from the common cold to influenza.

While the common cold is not usually considered serious, some other respiratory infections are. Even a cold can lead to such complications as bronchitis, ear or sinus infections. Your cold symptoms, moreover, may be the early signs of another disorder. For this reason it's wise to consult your physician if you develop a serious upper respiratory infection, or if a cold persists or lingers.

Now miracle drugs are effective in curbing diseases of bacterial origin such as "strep" throat. But since we do not yet have a drug that against virus infections, it is also a good idea to keep up your resistance through proper rest and a balanced diet. Naturally, anyone who develops a respiratory infection should stay home to avoid spreading it to others.

Science may in the not-too-distant future, provide us with an effective vaccine against the common cold and other respiratory ailments. Such a discovery could mean an end to the sneeze and wheeze and sniffles of the so-called sneezin' season.

Take That Plug Out of Your Ears

Now a New Discovery Removes Deeply Buried Ear Wax Safely and Painlessly at Home

Have your friends ever said, "Take that plug out of your ears"? Do things sound muffled? The plug in your ears may be wax, buried where you can't get at it. Millions of Americans suffer from this ear wax trouble.

Deep, hidden wax (cerumen) may be a dangerous breeding ground for infection. It should be removed. But how? Sharp, pointed objects are unsuccessful, and may even puncture your ear drums.

How then? With painful instruments? Until recently, this was the only effective way.

Now a new medical discovery has changed everything. Now you can remove the deepest hidden ear wax yourself, at home. Safely. Quickly. And painlessly.

The discovery is Kerid Drops — a soothing, relieving preparation that actually softens the most stubborn wax plug in minutes. Wax can be flushed right out. Suddenly your ears feel clear, unblocked.

Kerid is safe. Doctors have tested it on thousands of patients, found it the most effective way to get rid of ear wax. Kerid is guaranteed to remove ear wax or your money back.

Police Services Essential for Any Emergency Evacuation in Attack

Brown County's Survival Plan Shows What Sheriff, Local Enforcement Forces Must Do

BY ROBERT WHITE
Post-Crescent News Service

The sheriff of Brown county would be the director of police services under the survival plan for the Green Bay target area if and when a warning is received of an impending nuclear attack.

Working with him would be the Green Bay police chief as deputy coordinator of emergency police operations and the Brown county traffic chief as deputy coordinator for administration and training of emergency police personnel.

The sheriff would coordinate the operation and planning of all police services including regular police assignments and assignments of the county's civil defense auxiliary police force.

It would be his duty to furnish personnel where they are needed and guarantee as far as is humanly possible that the evacuation be kept under control. The sheriff, police logical monitoring plan would be activated to inspect each 25 square miles of Brown county territory to see if the territory is safe from radioactivity after nuclear attack.

Fire and rescue services under the survival plan will be directed by Fire Chief Dave Zuidmuller. Zuidmuller and his staff would be responsible for all fire and rescue work within Brown county's boundaries.

An integral part of the fire and rescue service is the organizing of mobile support battalions among trained firefighters throughout the county. Fire and rescue units will be trained and attached to each civil defense organization in each municipality.

Each town, village and city will develop fire and rescue services in cooperating with diologist at St. Vincent hospital.

Dr. Mokrohisky and his staff will have the responsibility of taking radiological surveys and training personnel to use radiological detection equipment.

Under the system, a radio-

The operational survival plan for the Green Bay target area places its major emphasis on evacuation to safe northern counties but Arthur Norgaard, deputy county civil defense director, is making certain he is doubly-protected against nuclear attack. Norgaard said he would build a $2,500 bomb and fallout shelter addition to his new home in Allouez.

chief and county traffic chief and their staffs must keep highway movements functioning smoothly if the evacuation is to have any measure of success after the attack warning is sounded.

The radiological defense service is another important phase of the evacuation plan. This service will be directed by Dr. John Mokrohisky, ra-Zuidmuller as the coordinator of these operations. Probably among the most important organizations for the success of the survival plan will be the emergency health services under supervision of Dr. Robert Rose, medical director.

This group will be responsible for medical care and service and public health service. Dr. Rose and his assistants will cover all aspects of treatment of sick and injured persons and will be responsible for control of bacteriological and chemical diseases which could follow a nuclear attack.

Bury Dead
The emergency health service also will be responsible for environmental sanitation. Of primary importance here is the burial of the dead, which must be done without causing additional health hazards. Dr. Rose also will be in charge of the organization of mobile medical teams and

The State Building Lag

Joe E. Nusbaum, commissioner of administration for the Wisconsin state government, has asked the legislative finance committee for help in eliminating the lag in state institutional construction.

Nusbaum charges there often are time lags of from five to seven years between the authorization of state institution buildings and their actual construction. He has asked for legislative approval to hire eight additional staff members of the State Bureau of Engineering in the hope of speeding up the program. As examples of what is going on he mentioned that approval for the construction of a new medium security state prison had been made more than seven years ago but that plans never have been drawn. Further, he pointed out the legislature provided money for the construction of a new state school for delinquent boys four years ago. The plans never have been drafted.

Nusbaum says such delays are unpardonable and we think most people will agree that is about as mild a term as could be used to describe it. Some of these buildings will be well on the way to obsolescence before they are put into use. Both the medium security prison and the boys school are urgently needed. It may be recalled that more than a year before the authorization of the boys school construction it had been proposed to build cottages near the Green Bay reformatory to take care of the overcrowding at Waukesha. This was to be in the nature of an emergency program but when the plans were changed and the construction of a new school authorized it appears that the feeling of emergency did not carry over into the State Bureau of Engineering. The construction was authorized under Gov. Kohler but appears to have been quietly put aside during the administration of Gov. Thomson and now has earned at least mention under the Nelson administration. Unless the legislature takes some drastic action it is possible that a boy who probably was unborn when the boys school emergency was noted during the Kohler administration will be governor of the state when the new boys school is put into operation.

Tennessee's Business Climate

Political leaders of both parties in Wisconsin are pretty well agreed that the state government should do everything it can to attract more industry to Wisconsin. As everyone knows, the state with industry is the state with surplus wealth and consequently the state with the better things of life.

However, there is no agreement among political leaders as to how the climate should be adjusted. It is quite certain that changes in tax laws which now are being discussed and will be discussed more intensely at the upcoming session of the legislature will play an important part in any program adopted.

For those uncertain as to what goes to make up a favorable industrial climate we suggest some of the advertising that is being circulated by the state of Tennessee.

Tennessee says that its drive for new industry was solidly indorsed by its last legislature in a bill that cut the use tax on machinery from the previous 3 per cent to 1 per cent. Further, the ad points out that Tennessee communities now are authorized by the legislature to issue full faith and credit bonds to finance buildings for lease to industries. The ad claims that Tennessee has gained 757 new industrial plants and has recorded 1,098 plant expansions during the past six years. It says that the governmental climate is highly favorable to industry with a balanced state budget and no personal income tax.

The Tennessee program would certainly be a difficult one for Wisconsin to adopt. But it certainly points in the direction the state should want to go and that is something for the legislators and the state administrative officers to bear in mind.

Young Woman in a Hurry

Velma West, an attractive blonde newlywed, was 21 years old in 1927 when she engaged in an argument with her wealthy husband over the use of the family car.

She felt she couldn't stand the small town life at Perry in Lake county, Ohio. She wanted the car to visit friends in Cleveland but when her 200-pound husband objected she beat him to death with a hammer and drove off to attend a bridge party. She was sentenced to prison but she couldn't stand that life either so she escaped but was recaptured after 40 days of freedom. Now, more than 30 years after she was sentenced, the parole board has considered her case but she no longer is in a hurry. She told members she had no place to go and was just as soon remain in prison.

Her description of herself at the time of the trial was that "she was a 12 o'clock girl in a 9 o'clock town." Thus she expressed her resentment of being cooped up in a small town. During her later years in prison her weight had been reduced from 100 pounds to 86 by illness and a heart condition. She spent her spare time playing the piano for other prisoners and singing songs which she composed with such sentiments as "Won't you spare one little prayer for a sinner like me?"

It is strange how time changes one's outlook. One must wonder how Velma West at 53, with no desire to go any place, could really understand how as an impetuous woman of 21 she had killed her husband and earned 31 years of confinement merely because she wanted to go places.

'The Devil Builds a Chapel'

Basil Rathbone, the talented actor who usually is cast in evil parts, has been playing God instead. For the last few months he has taken the role of Mr. Zuss in the Archibald MacLeish play "J. B." which brings the Book of Job up to date.

But now Mr. Rathbone is switching to the role of Mr. Nickles, the devil in the play and the part he wanted in the first place. "Nickles is the character who motivates the play," says Mr. Rathbone and, even more alarming, "a little Nickles has been creeping into my Zuss lately."

There are a lot of elements of human drama in this by-play. It's much more fun to play the devil and avoid that narrow, rocky path. The evil elements do tend to motivate many actions of mankind even in defense. And, whenever anyone does try to play God; except upon the stage, a lot of the devil gets into the act.

Mr. Rathbone has turned about upon Shakespeare's King Richard III who seemed "a saint when most I play the devil." Or is it just that it is sometimes difficult to tell good from evil?

Search for Inexpensive Schooling With Quality, Quantity Important

From The Chicago Daily News

The great debate about American education is now two years old. If we mark its beginning as the time of the Sputnik crisis of 1957. The intensity of interest generated by the Russian achievement had moderated somewhat, but fortunately there is no sign that it will soon be succeeded by apathy.

It is probably safe to say that public education has been ungraded somewhat because of this period of searching examination, though even this conclusion may be tempered by one's definition of progress in an inexact science.

About the only indisputable fact is that the costs of education are climbing at an alarming rate. The cost continues to be the case even if the quality of education remained static, simply because more people are receiving more education than ever before.

This year, a record 46.5 million students are enrolled in schools, public and private, from kindergarten through university — one out of every four persons in the United States. Total expenditures associated with this enrollment are estimated at more than $21 billion.

Seventy-five per cent of the money comes from public sources — local state and federal — which means that education ranks second only to defense as a public expense.

The high birth rate of recent years is a well-known phenomenon, as is the mushroom growth of elementary schools. Yet elementary school enrollment has increased only 60 per cent since 1920, while total school and college enrollment has doubled. More students are going to school longer.

High school attendance has jumped from 10 to 20 per cent of total school enrollment since 1920. College enrollment has soared in the same time from 0.6 million to 3.8 million. And the major effects of the post-World War II baby boom are still to come in the secondary schools and colleges.

But while the total enrollment at all levels was doubling, the costs of education increased tenfold. It is worth noting that in the same 40-year period the over-all cost of living, as measured by the government's consumer price index, jumped less than 50 per cent.

With both numbers of pupils and costs per pupil on the rise, it is evident that the quantity factor alone will continue to push educational expenditures ever higher. There remains the added factor of quality to meet the requirements of an increasingly complex society.

There can be no doubt that the American people want quality education for their children and for the most part they are willing to pay for it. The question is whether the present cost trends will not at some point strip the nation's ability to pay.

Superimposing extra costs in the name of quality on a system so burdened with quantity could prove to be merely a short cut to bankruptcy. Somehow, a way must be found to provide both quantity and quality, yet at the same time level off the sharp upswing in the cost curves.

Numerous agencies, both public and private, are hard at work on this problem. For the sake of the national solvency, we should all hope fervently that they achieve a breakthrough in time.

Well, What Did She Expect to See?

Charges Reorganization Bill Sets Up Government by Decree

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The governor signed the reorganization Bill 623S. And now the wrecking crews are out smashing up the statutes. Wisconsin still has a constitution. But by statute and Bill 623S administration of government by and for the people through laws created by the legislature has been destroyed. We are now to have administration of government by decree.

In petitions to the legislature and to Gov. Nelson, I challenged that Bill 623S was one of the most ruthless, dangerous, and destructive bills ever to come before a Wisconsin legislature, that it was flagrantly and violently unconstitutional, and violated fundamental basic principles of sound government. It violates constitutional mandates that laws shall be repealed and laws shall be created by the legislature.

The bill abolished five vital departments: Budget and accounts, bureaus of purchases, engineering, personnel, and research and dumps them into one department headed by the commissioner who is given power to determine the number of organizational units and to allocate and reallocate functions and duties. The departments are abolished and then they are transferred! The new emergency board is given power to transfer appropriations from one department to another and to eliminate functions. Administration of government by and for the people of Wisconsin under laws created by the legislature is destroyed, and we are to have administration of government by complete autocracy. We are to have government by bossism under the type of rule of the boss of a family-owned company. We are to have laws created by decree. That is what Bill 623S provides. It is unconstitutional and revolution! It goes back before the Magna Charta.

I believe it is the worst collection of scrambled chaos and confusion and conglomerated hodgepodge ever put into a Wisconsin legislative bill! Statutes created by the legislature providing duties and functions of these five departments "abolished and transferred" still provide that specific duties assigned by the legislature to these departments are the statutory mandates outlining the duties of the five department directors. Then by decree of the commissioner out of the governor's office, statutes are smashed and repealed and new law created by decree providing that this, that and the other things shall be the duties of the departments. And new departments are created by decree of the commissioner out of the governor's office.

Gov. Nelson has the largest and most expensive staff of any governor in the history of the state and one which could well have worked to gather and provide him with information regarding needs of state departments instead of working to create revolution, defiance of constitutional mandates, and statutory mandates. The Governor has put the people of Wisconsin to great expense by duplicating in his executive office many of the services the legislature provided by statute shall be done by the director of budget and accounts.

One of the greatest dangers of bill 623S is power to make appropriations in lump sum or total sum for expenses. This violates record of Wisconsin legislature for long years in demanding mathematical exactness in budget data and appropriations.

Bill 623S contained great danger for civil service employees in provisions on page 25, lines 12-16 which "bases the treatment of its employees upon the relative value of each employee's services and his demonstrated competence and fitness." That reads very pretty. It provides roots for abolishing salary schedules based on the job created by work and job specifications and appointment secured after examination. Mr. Joe Nusbaum and his appointees and the civil service board shall determine the relative value of each employee's services. In this way political control shall be exercised over salary of every civil service employee.

Bill 623S was slammed through the legislature with grossest misrepresentations. It was heralded as dealing with a few little housekeeping functions and well greased advertising sales methods used to misrepresent it. Two senators who voted to introduce it so as to help give it a bipartisan flavor voted against it in finance committee and on the senate floor — after they found out what was in it. They were Sens. Draheim, chairman of finance, and Dempsey. It was rushed through the assembly without hearing and

'Emergency' Taxes Are So Permanent

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The risk of the "stop-gap" revenue measures which the governor proposes to submit to the legislature is that they won't be the temporary expedients the label implies.

Aside from the idea of income tax withholding legislation, which is almost sure to be knocked down again by the Republican senate, the governor must rely, he says, upon the individual income tax to get the $30,000,000 in new money he needs to finance what he chooses to call a "tight" budget.

Parent hetically, the anonymous taxpayer out in the state may wonder some day about the legitimacy of the adjectives in the governor's vocabulary. Existing tax revenues are bringing in more money than ever before, but under a so-called "tight" budget expenditures are outrunning the record income by more than 10 per cent.

The governor wants to revise the income tax rates, across the board, perhaps rushed to the calendar with little opportunity during the rush of the end of the session to try and awaken understanding as to what was in it. Every Democrat must vote for it because it was a measure for which the governor demanded support.

Cheers Mrs. Troge

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Three cheers for Mrs. Wilbur Troge !!! I read her letter to your newspaper — reproduced in the Universe Catholic Bulletin. It is evident she has a great big heart — with her open viewpoint on the sad Zimmerman case.

This bus transportation has been a difficult situation in regards to parochial children. I hope in the future it can be settled with a happy agreement to all creeds.

St. Mary Church Fair Nets $1,600

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Nov. 6, 1880.

The annual fair and sale of the congregation of St. Mary's Catholic church closed on Wednesday evening of last week and the net results to the church building fund will be some $1,600.

The fair was held in Bertschy Hall and the place was thronged most of the time by a good humored lot of people. There was a contest between the respective friends of Mr. J. Dodd, foreman of the Rogers paper mills, and Mr. T. Pierson of the Atlas mills. The former received 3,384 votes and the latter 667 votes for a handsome gold headed cane.

Monday, Oct. 29, 1934

Organization of a city-wide committee to further a Better Housing program in Appleton was to be undertaken at a meeting that night.

Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, was made an honorary member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools by action of the executive board at a meeting in Stevens Hotel, Chicago, Saturday. Dr. Wriston was a member of the association's executive board and was a former president of the organization.

M. G. Gorrow, Appleton, was appointed manager of the northern division of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, and C. E. Harger, Mr. Gorrow's predecessor, was to come to Appleton as superintendent of power for the company.

Ray Lang, Appleton, was elected president of Fox River Valley Foresters association meeting at Fond du Lac.

Miss Marion Zimmerman was leader at the meeting of Baptist Young People's Union.

10 YEARS AGO

Monday, Oct. 31, 1949

William E. Hamlin, Appleton, received his Ph.D. degree in chemistry at the University of Illinois. He was employed at Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Tom Hearden, head football coach and athletic director at St. Norbert college, DePere, was to be the principal speaker at the annual Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce "Bosses' Night" dinner Tuesday night.

Arthur F. Stapel, treasurer and general manager of the Fox Valley Co-op Wholesale, was to attend the twenty-first annual farmers' get together conference at Madison Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. John Fourness and Alvin Blinder were the new Wisconsin bridge champions, having won over a field of 56 pairs in the annual state tournament at the Northland hotel, Green Bay.

Irish Dramatist Mends His Ways, Sober While in London

BY DENNIS NEEDLE
London—(U)—Brendan Behan came back to town a changed man. He was stone cold sober.
It was fully 20 minutes after the ruffled, roly-poly Irish playwright steamed into a grimy Euston station before he uttered his first oath. And at least 25 minutes before he downed his first drink.
"To success," bellowed Behan as he raised his glass in a Piccadilly bar.
"Success to abstinence," added his wife, Beatrice.
"He has been off the gargle for a week or two," she said. "He's been very good. I don't think he will cause quite the same sensations this time. At any rate, I'm here to keep an eye on him."
Took the Cure
Behan, who left a Dublin hospital two months ago after his second drink cure in 12 months, looked fitter than he has in years.
Last time he was in London. In July, he set the town ablaze. At his play, "The Hostage," he heckled the actors, did a jig on the stage and shouted "idiots" at the audience. At the height of the monumental binge, he was hauled into court on a charge of drunkenness.

Discusses New Play
The rumbustious Irishman swallowed a dozen mussels, washed them down with soup, carved his way through a steak, drank a glass of red wine and talked about his next play.
"It's called 'The Catacomb,'" he said. "It will bring Dublin's underworld to life."

Archie Moore, Boxing champion, turns to acting in the part of Jim, the runaway slave, in the new film version of Mark Twain's "Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." With him in this scene from the movie is Eddie Hodges, who portrays the title role of Huck.

to the stage . . . probably a bit strong for the "Irish."
"I think," he continued, "I'll go along and see how 'The Hostage' is doing."
Audience and actors were warned. But Behan sat through the show without a murmur. And at the end he was led on stage to roaring cheers and cries of "author."
Behan ran his hand through his mop of tousled hair. "I'm absolutely sober," he said, grinning.

Archie Moore Starts New Career in Films

Portrays Jim, Runaway Slave, in 'Adventures of Huckleberry Finn'

BY BOB THOMAS
Hollywood—(U)—"My career is like a river. I would like to have it end by fulfillment, by flowing into the mighty ocean. I don't want it to dry up and die before it reaches there."
The man speaking was Archie Moore, the fistic philosopher. He was telling why he is seeking an acting career even though he is light-heavyweight champion and a vocal contender for Ingemar Johansson's heavyweight crown.
"I've been very lucky in the ring," Archie commented. "I've never really been hurt, although I've been knocked out a few times. I would like to quit while the river of my career is still flowing strongly. The only way I can do that is to have something else to turn to."
Acting could be it. He is now playing a plum role — runaway slave, Jim, in a new version of "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." And he's doing right well, according to all sources.
Enjoys Character Part
"I am giving it everything that I can from my heart and soul," Archie said. "I really feel this character. He is not an educated man, but he uses his head to accomplish what he needs."
"I am being very careful with it, because I realize that a lot of my people are opposed to the character of Jim. I have even asked to change some of the lines that might seem offensive. Archie is doing two songs thought about what I could do so I could improve my lot."

He considered football but found it offered little promise. Makes Decision
It was the same with baseball: Satchel Paige was the only well-paid Negro in the game. Then he heard about Kid Chocolate's earnings in the fight game. That decided it.
"I devoted the next two years in the reform school to developing my body," he said. "While others my age were running around the streets and living normally, I worked on exercise, getting regular food and rest and doing hard labor. When it came time for me to get out and start boxing, I was ready for it."
The Phoenix has announced it is closing the show Nov. 15 so the theater can be used for another play.

Followed Script in TV Show, Van Doren Says

aggravated that he gave in to the persuasive arguments of Albert Freedman, a producer of the show — that he was creating new respect for the teaching profession and that, after all, it was only entertainment for the millions of TV viewers.

"I learned a lot about good and evil," Van Doren said, "and I learned that things are not always the way they appear to be."

Answering questions posed this time by the congressional investigators, Van Doren later testified that in late January, 1957, while he still was on "Twenty-One," Freedman demanded $5,000 of his potential winnings.

Van Doren hurriedly added that he didn't think Freedman meant it. Nothing came of it, he said.

Wanted $5,000

The incident occurred, Van Doren related, when Freedman approached him one night "and told me I was to be the first contestant to win more than $100,000."

"I think these are his exact words," Van Doren said.

"Charlie, I think I ought to have $5,000 of that money."

Tears welled noticeably in Van Doren's eyes as he related the incident.

"I'm very sorry to have to mention this," he said.

Freedman "never repeated it," Van Doren said, adding: "No arrangements of any kind were ever made between me and Mr. Freedman."

Van Doren kept his emotions in check as he read his statement. He read rapidly, however, and it was obvious that he was undergoing turmoil.

Reporting his reactions after receiving the subcommittee's invitation to testify last month, he said:

"I knew I could not lie anymore. . . ."

He said he became aware he had been running away from himself. He said he couldn't bring himself to face the situation at that time.

Regrets Course

"I would give almost anything I have to reverse the course of my life in the last three years," Van Doren said.

At one point, the witness said, he met Freedman at a luncheon and the producer told him "they can break my legs" and he wouldn't reveal the show was rigged.

By this, Van Doren said, "he meant nothing would be done to implicate me."

However, Van Doren added that Freedman later went before the grand jury "and implicated me."

Freedman presently is under indictment on charges of committing perjury in telling the grand jury that "Twenty-One" was not fixed. However, subcommittee sources have said he later returned and told the grand jury the truth.

As Van Doren ended his 90 minutes of testimony before the subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) excused him with a "God bless you."

He said the witness had "certainly helped clarify the record."

Duty to Tell Truth

Earlier Rep. Steven B. Derounian (R-NY) told the witness that while he was glad Van Doren had made his statement, "I cannot agree with my colleagues who commended you for telling the truth. I think an intelligent adult like you has an obligation to tell the truth."

There was a burst of applause from the back of the room, where some 500 persons were crowded into space meant to seat 220.

Nelson Readies Fight for His Revenue Plan

position and that of the party he leads, but he said with some impatience that he is aware of no such prospect.

It was guessed, however, that he will indicate to the convention his preference for a tax attitude that is somewhat less rigid than that taken before at other party meetings.

(Some party leaders, notably including Sen. William Proxmire and Mayor Ivan Nestingen of Madison, have said they will insist upon an anti-sales tax resolution at the Democratic delegate convention in Milwaukee Nov. 13.)

The governor today also repeated that he wants the legislature that will reconvene tomorrow to enact stop gap revenue measures to balance the state budget, and that he will resist prospective Republican moves to recess the legislature until the governor's tax committee reports its recommendations, probably next spring.

Expected Fight

He also issued a press release today indicating that he expects a major fight about the enactment of his bill for a billboard control program for state highways, which was not acted upon by the lawmakers earlier in the year. He complained that the billboard lobby is falsely describing the nature and the purposes of the measure to enact a permit system for all the advertising signs on the state's public roads.

He announced his approval of a legislative bill originally suggested by him which puts Blue Cross, Blue Shield and surgical care plans, with hundreds of thousands of Wisconsin policy holders, under the regulation of the state insurance department.

Nelson plans to meet today with his Democratic lieutenants in the legislature to lay out strategy for the session, which is confronted with the principal problem of raising about $30,000,000 in additional state tax revenue.

Special Message

He will describe his budget recommendations and the deficit in a special message Wednesday and follow it with his tax plan in another speech next week. He is, almost certain to ask for revision of individual income tax rates to produce the extra revenue for what he has called a "tight budget."

The legislature will stay in session for at least a month and very likely longer.

Nelson told reporters today that he may have some additional appointments to submit to the Republican state senate for confirmation during the session, including a new highway commission chairman to succeed Harold Plummer, who is serving under special arrangements after having reached retirement age.

Combined Locks Moves Toward Independence

Village Taking Steps to Have Its Own Water System; Other Projects Studied

Combined Locks — This village, long-time dependent on surrounding communities for many facilities, is making its first move toward independence.

Outsiders have chuckled over the fact that the village gets its water supply from Kimberly, electrical power from Wisconsin-Michigan at Appleton and sewage is handled by the city of Kaukauna.

Water System

Engineering work now is underway for the Combined Locks water system. When work is started on the system it is estimated that it will take a year and a half to complete the project. A well will have to be drilled and a tower erected and pumping equipment installed.

In the last two years the village has seen rapid growth. Three new plats opened and new home construction has just jumped to a record.

With the new home development, naturally the population has increased. Feeling the effect of the population the most is the state graded school. Enrollment has been hiked rapidly and the school district is faced with the prospect of having to build additional classrooms.

Future Outlook

A long range look into the future can see the village constructing its own sewage disposal plant. Handling of it by Kaukauna works out well at the present even though the past is dotted with disputes between the city and village over the sewage treatment.

The two communities went to court at one time to settle a hassle over the amount Kaukauna should charge Combined Locks each month for handling the sewage.

Combined Locks has one major industry, the Combined Locks Paper Company, to help with the tax problem most villages are confronted with. With a major project such as the water system, the future tax picture is not bright. One of the most probable steps that will be taken is a change in the assessed valuation percentage.

Growing pains are being felt by this village but the pains are being soothed by the ever so little air of independence being realized.

Chili Supper At Kaukauna

Annual Bethany Lutheran Church Event Wednesday

Kaukauna—Ticket and publicity chairman, Mrs. Richard Muehl, has announced that the annual chili supper sponsored by the Bethany Lutheran church will be held Wednesday.

In addition to chili, the menu will include hot dogs, hamburgers, apple and pumpkin pie, cake, ice cream and beverages.

The scheduling of meals has been arranged so that patrons can have either or both of their main meals at the church. Serving will begin at 11 a. m. and continue until 1 p. m. It will resume at 4:30 p. m. and run until 8 p. m.

General chairman for the supper is Mrs. Irvin Artz and in charge of the kitchen are Mrs. Joe Jansen and Mrs. Roy Mahn. Heading the dining room staff are Lyle Sie-laff and Mrs. Harold Kahler. Cashier will be Mrs. Lester Kasper. Mrs. Ernest Lichtfuss and Mrs. Kenneth Allwardt are co-chairmen of food preparation.

Board to Meet

Little Chute — The village board will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the council room of the village hall.

3-3-2 Record

Grid Letters Awarded to Little Chute Grade Team

Little Chute — Letters were awarded to players on the St. John Grade school football team by Coach Gene Vandehey at the annual banquet at Hietpas restaurant.

Named as most valuable players for the season were Dennis Hietpas and Bill Verhagen.

The young Dutchmen finished the season with three wins, three losses and two ties. The losses were the first suffered by the grade team in the last three seasons.

Coach, Vandehey, praised the boys for their spirit and cooperation during the season. He pointed out that the majority of the team was underclassmen who will be back next season.

The Rev. Mark Schumacher, athletic director, complimented Vandehey for his work with the team and told the boys they should be thankful for the training they received.

Receiving letters were John Sprister, James Brue, Carl Verhagen, Tom Langendyke, Melvin Van Asten, Mike Ourada, Leon Vanden Heuvel, Wayne Vandehey, Richard Boots, Gerry Vandehey, Tom

Pfeffer, Mike Hietpas, Gene Verhagen, Bruce Hammen, John Reider, Tim Verstegen, Bill Verhagen and Dennis Hietpas.

Jars 660 Set For Pin Honors At Little Chute

Little Chute — John Vanden Burt cracked games of 243 and 235 while posting a 660 series for the top individual honors in the Fox Valley league at the Recreation alleys.

Other individual counts included Russ Huss, 584; Roger Koehn, 583; Tom Belland, 574; Merlin School, 567; Jim Hartjes, 550, and Hank Evers, 228.

Menasha Man Fined In Little Chute Court

Little Chute — Ronald C. Rose, 21, 813 Third street, Menasha, pleaded guilty of speeding and was fined $15 in justice court.

Rose was arrested Tuesday for traveling 44 miles per hour in a 25 mile per hour zone by village police.

Children's Book Week Plans Set At Kaukauna

Kaukauna — Special activities are planned this week at the Public Library in the observance of National Children's Book Week.

"Go Exploring in Books," is the theme of the observance.

A display will be set up in the main reading room showing some of the new selections which have just been released.

Special posters and streamers will decorate the children's department. Free-book marks will be given to the youngsters visiting the library.

Rolls 195 at Kaukauna Lanes

Kaukauna—Lucille Schmidt rolled a 195 game for individual high in the Ladies league at the S and B alleys.

The only other honor count was a 191 singleton by Ger-milla Gerhart.

Elizabeth Obermeyer qualified for a special American Bowling congress award with three straight games of 127 each.

Two Cars Damaged in Little Chute Mishap

Little Chute — Two cars were damaged in an accident in the 100 block of E. Main avenue at 3:55 p. m. Friday, according to village police.

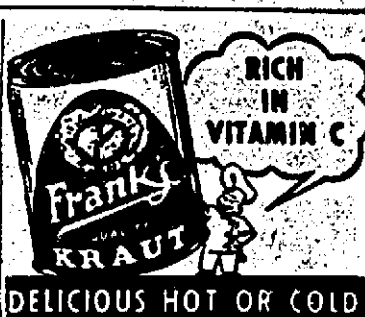

A vehicle driven by James Sanderfoot, 18, 202 W. Lincoln avenue, struck the rear of one driven by Charles L. Dostal, 42, 500 N. Vine street, Appleton. Dostal said he had stopped for a vehicle in front

OUR ENDLESS HOUSEKEEPING

Saves you money!

HERE'S WHY...

Ladies, does it sometimes seem to you that you've no sooner finished with the dusting than you have it to do all over again?

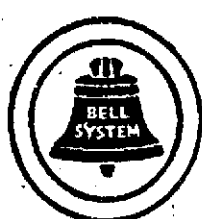

In "our house," that's a fact! A simple little thing like lint in the air can cut off your conversation as surely as scissors. And we can't let that happen.

So, we dust. We use filter systems.

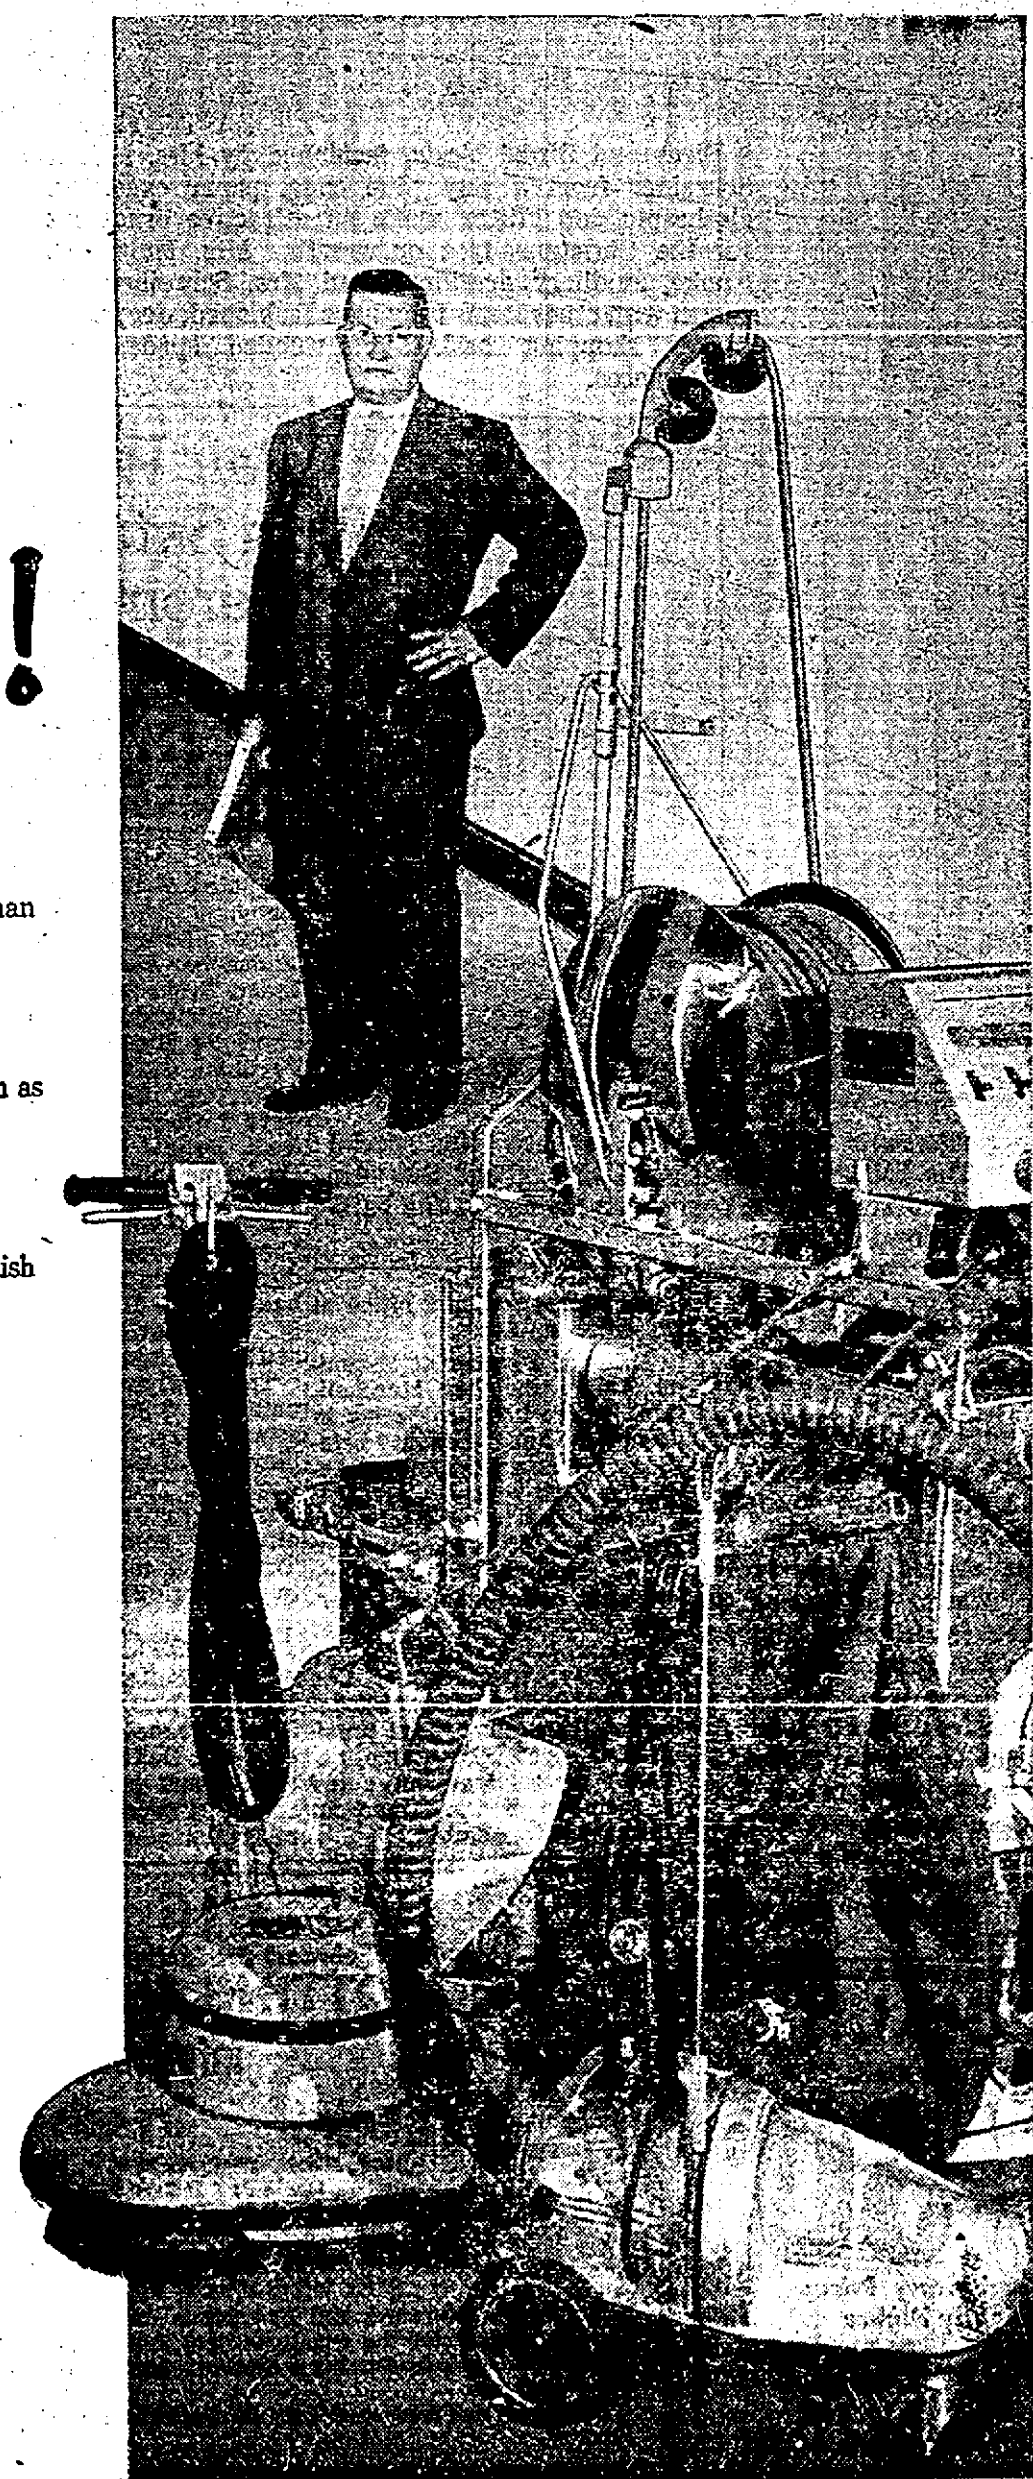

We vacuum. We tile our walls. We wax and polish and paint. Why? Because dirt of any kind can interrupt calls and calls must go through uninterrupted. It costs less to prevent troubles than it does to locate and repair them.

Efficient, thrifty housekeeping is an important part of our everyday effort to better your service and hold down its cost.

WISCONSIN TELEPHONE COMPANY

Max Jancaah, Telephone Company Building Service Foreman, checks some of the unusual equipment designed to help meet the monstrous daily responsibility of cleaning more than sixty acres of floor area—to say nothing of walls and ceilings! ## Auxiliary Members Plan For 4th Annual Bazaar

Mrs. Roy Schulze and Mrs. P. C. Menning, co-chairmen of the operation paint pot committee, are shown with the designed plates, trays, buckets, glasses and dishes which they and their committee decorated for the annual Appleton Memorial hospital auxiliary bazaar to be held at the Masonic temple, Nov. 12 and 13.

Memorial Hospital to Benefit From Auxiliary's Craft Work

The Masonic temple will be transformed into a "Winter Wonderland" Nov. 12 and 13 for the Appleton Memorial hospital auxiliary's annual Christmas bazaar. Recipe boxes, Christmas tree decorations, decorated bottles and glasses and many more gifts for the entire family will be sold. Hours of the sale are from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Mrs. William Zuehlke, Jr., is general chairman.

Auxiliary members have been busy since spring at the homes of various committee members painting and preparing items for sale.

The first bazaar was a 1-day event held in 1956 at Butte des Morts Golf club. Since then, the response has been so tremendous, that, beginning last year, two days were set aside for the sale.

Thousands of work hours are behind the bazaar. To prepare the items members met at each other's residences for workshops.

Project Chairmen

This year's project chairmen include Mrs. E. N. Krueger, pick-up; Mrs. M. A. Schreiner, ideas and purchasing; Mrs. P. C. Menning and Mrs. Roy Schulze, creative painting; Mrs. R. E. Boen, bracelets; Mrs. A. B. H. in Lewenstein, earrings; Mrs. Clarence Steinwedel, glitter and glow; and Mrs. Charles McClure, decorative Christmas trees.

Other chairmen are Mrs. T. H. Hartman, general sewing; Mrs. Harold Arbeiter, aprons; Mrs. W. C. Stachs and Mrs. Armin Albrecht, dry arrangements; Mrs. H. M. Fellows and Mrs. Hugo Bruegeman, candy; Mrs. Forrest Muck, food; Mrs. Leigh Wolfe, pine cones wreaths; and Mrs. P. D. Pettigrew, felt.

Some of the bazaar items, proceeds from which will be added to the hospital fund, are recipe boxes, filled with favorite recipes of the auxiliary members. Incidentally, these boxes are a new feature and have been hand painted to complement any decor. Mrs. Thomas Woodrow designed the intricate patterns.

Knitted goods, plain and fancy socks, mittens, baby sweaters, bonnets and jackets will be displayed and sold for the second year.

Aprons, including utility and novelty, also will be offered, plus items hand sewn by the members. This category includes children's clothes, sleepwear, laundry bags, stuffed animals and toys, to mention a few items.

Creative Items
Anything that can be painted comes under the classification of operation paint pot. Hollow stem champagne beer glasses have been given a Santa Claus face and red felt hat; hundreds of little wooden angels are being painted in gay holiday colors, also ceramic wall decorations, coffee pots, wooden bowls, trays and knitting baskets.

Decorative items, including della robbia wreaths, door swags, table centerpieces and Christmas trees have been made in the home workshops from pine cones, seed pods and other dried varieties gathered from fields and along roadsides.

The glitter and glow committee has produced glamour items which sparkle and beautify any drab corner. Ornaments and conversation pieces, have been touched with se-

Youthful Pianist Scores in Recital

By Marguerite Schumann

This has been a dispiriting fall for one who has begun to trudge firm and unapologetic through the middle years. The public platforms of Appleton have been overrun with barely-bearded boys, each more remarkable than the last. It makes one feel unnecessarily old.

It started with a young doctor who has been mentioned in the same breath with Albert Schweitzer. Then there was a lute player whose British passport is stamped age 26. Sunday afternoon in Harper hall of the Lawrence Music-Drama center the lowpoint (age-wise) and high point (artistically) was reached.

Augustin Anievas, 25 year old pianist fresh from Juilliard graduate school, is a genius. After his opener—a Beethoven sonata which many an experienced man has declined to tackle at all, much less at the beginning when you are allowed a reasonable amount of time to get the bugs out—someone muttered, "He should be across the street on the Artist Series." And chances are, that is where he will next be heard. But Pi Kappa Lambda music fraternity must be credited with his local discovery.

Superb Talent

By all logic, Anievas should not be playing like he does without at least a decade of concert experience behind him. He has apparently been able to abridge the seasoning stage in his career. To put it simply, he is ready. His is the kind of talent—big, shining, heroic, but above all, superbly musical—that sends a reporter, despairing, out into the night to think up new words. It is the sort of playing that has one smiling like a fool all through the concert—smiling in delighted disbelief at what is going on up there with those magic mitts all over the place at once.

His immense spidery hands caracolled above the keyboard, and the most marvelous sounds came out—glissandos from both sides of the finger, trills that were inhabited by the devil himself, page after page of 19th century arpeggios that were clean and brilliant beyond belief. Anything hard, Anievas can make easy. But let it be understood above all else—Augustin Anievas is not a piano pounder or a sloppy Latin romantic. His taste is in the same grand tradition as his technique.

It was a program that only a young man would have selected and only a young man could have played. Almost every item on it was a traditional Waterloo for pianists. He calmly assembled them on a single list.

Chopin Works
The bone-cracking Beethoven Sonata in C minor, Op. III immediately qualified the young man for whatever super race of pianists there ex-

Decorated Bottles, Dried arrangements and center pieces are the special projects of Mrs. W. C. Stachs. The bottles were gathered throughout the year in basements and trash cans and decorated by the committee for use in the bathroom or kitchen for holding soap powder.

Birds and Birds' Nests, fashioned by Mrs. Milton Schreiner from a tiny pine cone, paper excelsior, clothespin and glitter make an attractive ornament for the Christmas tree or wreath. Mrs. Melvin O. Knoke, auxiliary president, and Mrs. Schreiner are shown with other items they have fashioned: decorated wicker shopping baskets and wooden spades for centerpieces.

Pair Weds In Saturday Ceremony

Miss Nancy Diedrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Diedrich, Stockbridge, became the bride of Robert Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wilson, Stockbridge, Saturday morning at St. Mary Catholic church, Stockbridge. The Rev. William Willinger officiated at the nuptial ceremony.

Miss Shirley Diedrich attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lorna Nabbefeldt, Kaukauna, Charlotte Ricker and Janet Portman, Stockbridge.

Serving the bridegroom were Norbert Wilson as best man, Donald Burg, William Diedrich and Donald Diedrich, Stockbridge.

A dinner was served at the Sherwood restaurant Saturday noon and a reception was held at the Harbor pavilion. St. Mary parish hall was the setting for the buffet supper.

The newlyweds are graduates of Stockbridge High school. Mrs. Wilson is employed at Lawrence college, Appleton. Her husband is working for the Radke Construction company, Oshkosh. The young couple will reside in Stockbridge.

Miss Susan Manier Becomes Bride of Richard S. Grimm

Miss Susan Manier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex J. Manier, 1236 E. Opechee street, became the bride of Richard Seaton Grimm, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Grimm, Milwaukee, during Saturday evening rites at First Congregational church.

The Rev. Hugh Shelby Lee read the double ring ceremony and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

Miss Marcia Manier was maid of honor for her sister and another sister, Judy Manier, was an attendant with Mrs. William Mecklenburg, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Russell Schwem, Evanston, Ill., and the Misses Virginia Smith and Natalie Meyer, both of Evanston.

John Grimm was best man for his brother and ushers were Phillip Grimm, Thomas Drought, Theodore Hartshorne, all of Milwaukee; Robert Downing, Winnetka, Ill.; Thomas Pfeiler, Chicago; Peter Haensel, Fort Sheridan, Ill., and John Manier, Appleton, the bride's brother.

After a reception at North Shore Golf club, the couple left for a honeymoon in the Bahama Islands. They will reside at Fort Campbell, Ken., where the bridegroom is stationed as a first lieutenant in the army in the staff judge advocate general's corps with the 101st Airborne division.

The former Miss Manier is a graduate of Appleton High school and Northwestern university, where she affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta and Pi Lambda Theta. Prior to her marriage she taught at Skokie, Ill.

Her husband is an alumnus of Yale university and the University of Wisconsin Law school. At Yale he was a member of Phi Gamma Delta and at the state university he affiliated with Phi Delta-Phi legal fraternity.

North Shore Golf Club was setting Saturday evening for the reception after the marriage of Miss Susan Manier and Richard Seaton Grimm. The Rev. Hugh Shelby Lee officiated at the rites for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex J. Manier, 1236 E. Opechee street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Grimm, Milwaukee.

Son Deceives Mother—Indulges In Nighttime 'Prank' Club

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Last night I got the shock of my life. My son who is 17 has always been a kind, thoughtful boy. Very late last night I heard Bud get out of bed. I thought he was getting a drink of water. Then I heard him dial the telephone. When I Ann Landers looked at the clock it was 2 a.m. He hung up and dialed another number, then another and another. He didn't speak to anyone, just dialed numbers and hung up.

When he went back to his room I followed him. He quickly ducked a piece of paper under his pillow. I insisted he show it to me.

He had a list of 15 telephone numbers of people I didn't know. I finally got the story out of him. He belongs to a secret club called "The Antagonizers." Each member calls his list every night between 2 a.m. and 4 a.m. Then they report on the reactions at the meeting.

He told me the names of the other club members and I knew most of them. I phoned the mother of one of the boys this morning. She said "Oh come now, this is nothing to get excited about. It's just a teenage prank. Would you rather our boys got mixed up in gang wars?"

I believe if "pranks" like this aren't nipped in the bud, gang wars may be next. May I have your views?—Upset

DEAR UPSET: This is more than a "prank." It's organized anti-social behavior which can't be laughed off. It's also against the law in case you didn't know. I suggest the parents of "The Antagonizers" insist on a joint meeting with the boys. A substitute program of athletics should be offered so these kids won't have to get their kicks disturbing people and frightening them out of their wits. Unless something is done to channel their energies into wholesome and constructive outlets they will become bored with phone calls and turn to frightening people in person.

DEAR ANN: I was amazed at the pig-headedness of the man "Who Thinks For Himself." So he's been married and divorced twice—and all on his own. Does he want a medal?

In the past ten years I too have been divorced twice but certainly am not proud of it. It's taken three years of concentrated therapy with a psychiatrist to get back on the track. Even now I'm not sure

I'm ready to try marriage again although I'm confident my chances for succeeding would be far greater.

And the nerve of the man referring to people who write to you as "screwballs". At least they are trying to help themselves. Cynics who sit in the scorpion's seat and knock those of us who are trying to find answers need more help than anyone but they are too stubborn to admit it.—Fighting Mad

DEAR FIGHTING: Thank you, thank you. I have thought it, but you have said it. Bravo

DEAR ANN: I'm 23, unmarried (but hoping) and 25 pounds overweight. I've heard of the "one food a day diet" which my girl friend swears by. She lost 10 pounds in ten days. The theory is, it's not what you eat, but how much that counts. It makes sense to me. What do you think?—Hippy

DEAR HIPPIE: I think it's nonsense. If that "one thing a day" is a tub of potato salad you won't lose, you'll gain. See a doctor. Let him prescribe a diet and stay on it. There's no magic formula losing weight. It takes work.

"... I love him but I don't feel that he really loves me as he claims he does. He's a sweet guy but a very complex person. Most of the time I feel miserable with him and as if I were caught in a net. My better sense tells me that we would never be happy together for long."

Be patient with him. Of the two, your handwriting indicates the stronger personality.

He has a fine character and an excellent mind but his light cramped letters indicate that he suffers acutely from self-consciousness which he tries his best to hide.

Though shy, his signature is made with unusually tall capitals. He wants to appear self-assured and confident.

Those who write as he does are inclined to be touchy and worrisome. What does he worry about? Probably most of all about what you think of him.

His inner fears and anxieties are reflected in his personality. That may be why he makes you "feel caught in a net." He doesn't know how to be suave, tactful, impressive. He may try to assert himself by petty criticisms that make you feel you can never please him.

Ask Doctor To Call in Specialist

BY EMILY POST

DEAR MRS. POST: My husband became ill three weeks ago and our family doctor has been treating him ever since. He doesn't seem to be any better and we would like to call another doctor (a specialist) to come in and examine him. We don't want to hurt our family doctor who has been very kind to us. Will you please tell me how we can go about this?

ANSWER: Say to your doctor that you are worried about your husband and would like to call in a specialist for a consultation, and ask him who he thinks would be the best one.

Senseless Rule

DEAR MRS. POST: Someone has just told me that at a correctly set table, even though one person dines alone, four places should be set. To me this sounds just about as senseless as anything I've ever heard, but she insists it is correct and that if I didn't believe her I should write to Emily Post, which is just what I am doing.

ANSWER: It is quite true that according to correct formal service, a dining table is never set with less than four places. This is merely be-

DEAR MRS. POST: I received a lovely wedding present from the office staff. The boss was included. To whom should I write thank you? I hope not to each one.

ANSWER: You suggest that there are many, in which case it would be permissible to write one note to include everyone and address it either to the office manager or your best friend in the office. He (or she) in turn will either post it on a bulletin board or hand it around.

Attractive Home Helps Combat Delinquency

While sociologists study heat, coal dust or log splinters invoke curfews and politicians pontificate, others concerned with juvenile delinquency are taking steps to make home so attractive that no one will care to go out.

Few teen-age hangouts, for example, can match the warm glow of an open fire. For the education of homemakers interested in enriching their home, hence the life of their family, are the following facts about fireplace anatomy:

The most familiar part of the fireplace is the front hearth. This is the floor in front of the fireplace. Because of the intense heat and punishment it must take, the chimney front hearth demands a surfacing material like ceramic tile, which is unaffected by causing smoking. Behind the damper is a horizontal surface called the smoke shelf, which shields the fire from downdrafts that cause smoking.

The smoke chamber is a triangular area which connects the damper with the chimney flue. The chimney flue is the channel that carries smoke away—usually discharging it above the roof.

Christmas Cards

Christmas Cards Owe Beginning to Chinese

New York — Christmas comes but once a year, but when it comes—it brings over two and a half billion Christmas cards, according to the latest reports from the Greeting Card Association headquarters in Radio City, N. Y.

Not being too statistically minded, we won't attempt to tell you how far all these cards would reach if laid end to end, but may be you can also cope with the knowledge that it takes nearly two hundred million dollars worth of postage stamps to transport these gay holiday messengers to their destinations, not to mention the tons of paper and ink, ribbons and tinsel, needed to produce them.

All of which leads us to wonder how this whole thing got started. Researchers tell us that the sending of Christmas cards can be traced back through the centuries to the Chinese, who celebrated the advent of the New Year with messages of good will and good cheer. In more recent times, the Valentine, of all things, is considered to be the original ancestor of today's greeting cards.

Made From Wood Cuts But, let's see, we were talking about Christmas cards. Further investigation reveals that the first known published Christmas card appeared in London in 1843, although the Germans rendered quaint New Year's greetings from wood cuts as early as the year 1400. Getting back to the first Christmas card, we learn that it did not arouse any great enthusiasm among the English people when it was designed by John Calcott Horsley, R. A., a painter and illustrator, who created the first card for Sir Henry Cole, inaugurator and first director of the Victoria and Albert museum in London.

The lack of enthusiasm on the part of the English people about the first Christmas card is accounted for to some extent by its central illustration which depicted the conviviality of the season. Fortunately, however, two small panels to the left and right showed the charitable acts of "clothing the poor" and "feeding the hungry" and, thus, these humane touches helped to offset the criticisms from the strait-laced portions of the population.

By 1860 the Christmas card custom had become well established throughout the British Empire, but it was not until 1875 that the first line of American Christmas cards appeared on the market.

In that year, from his Boston lithographic plant, Louis Prang, who has come down as the father of the American Christmas card, launched his first line of holiday greetings.

Prang's first American Christmas cards were adorned, not with holly nor with mistletoe, bells, candles, snow and other present day Christmas symbols, but rather with Louis Prang's favorite flower and his pet motif—Killarney roses!

Interesting Place Back in 1889 Edward Everett Hale wrote — "To my mind, the most interesting place in Boston is Prang's printing house. Whenever I have a very grand friend visiting me, I always take him there to see Christmas cards made."

He then went on to describe the processes by which a picture was run through the press from eight to as many as 17 times, each time receiving an added shade of color until the net result was beautiful to see.

Prang's quaint cards, with their nostalgic appeal, take one back to the Victorian era. Many of them were elaborate "hanging cards" equipped with silk cords ready to hang on the parlor wall. Others were edged with inch wide, silk fringe so dear to Victorian hearts. Folded cards dripped with tassels. Fan-shaped cards bedecked with both fringe and tassels, competed with lustrous satin and - plus decorated creations. There were even some elaborate cards encrusted with blown glass frosting.

Louis Prang was not only a creative genius, but he was a good business man. Soon after his first Christmas card line was launched, Prang instituted an annual artists' contest offering as much as $3,000 in prizes. Competing artists submitted their sketches at exhibitions held in New York city. Prominent artists or art critics usually comprised the jury who picked the winners.

One year, visitors to the exhibition were asked to vote on their favorites, and at another season the prizes were awarded by a ballot of dealers. The Worcester Gazette heartily approved of the

New Taxes May Bring Impasse To Legislature

Madison — Political disagreement over new taxes may bring an impasse in the Wisconsin legislative session starting Tuesday, dragging it into the 1960 election year.

Gov. Gaylor Nelson's proposal to balance the budget with a withholding plan or higher income taxes has already surprised a shut-in with a bit of cheer.

So, when you select your Christmas cards this year, you'll no doubt have an inner feeling of satisfaction by realizing that once again you are participating in one of the most enjoyable and meaningful phases of the celebration of Christmas. A feeling that better way to preserve friendship? To keep in touch with old-time acquaintances who might otherwise be lost sight of? To unite scattered relatives? To please a lonely person with the thought that someone remembers him? To friends!

Grand Custom It certainly is a wonderful custom that Louis Prang instituted in this country — a grand old custom in spite of the frantic hours we moderns spend feverishly addressing and stamping Christmas greetings, all the while muttering that, so help us, we'll start earlier next year!

And a most rewarding custom. Can you suggest any better way to preserve friendship? To keep in touch with old-time acquaintances who might otherwise be lost sight of? To unite scattered relatives? To please a lonely person with the thought that someone remembers him? To friends!

Ready brought Republican protests. The biennial deficit—to be made up with new taxes—stands at $22,800,000 as the session opens.

Republicans insist any new taxes should be based on conclusions of the state's blue-ribbon citizens committee, which has said it won't have a report until sometime next year.

A tax debate continuing into next year could have serious political implications for Nelson, who is expected to seek a second 2-year term. He is the state's first Democratic governor in 25 years.

A political storm centering on the tax issue is certain to overshadow action on 65 measures laid over when the spring session recessed July 27.

Half Loaf Not Enough In Cards, Says Expert

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
U. S. Masters Team Champion

If you're used to the old copybook maxims, you'll get a jolt out of one of the sayings in Poor Alfred's Almanac: Three-quarters of a loaf is better than half. It isn't greedy but just sensible to see that you get what you're entitled to.

When this hand was played, recently, South unwisely finessed dummy's queen of hearts at the first trick. If the finesse won, South would have 10 sure tricks; if it lost, he planned to discard a club on dummy's ace of hearts.

As it happened, the finesse lost. South managed to discard a club but still had to lose a club trick. He gave up a heart, a club, and two diamonds—one trick more than he could afford.

"That was a poor finesse," the dummy remarked when the hand was finished. "You have to be crazy to finesse with a singleton!"

South did make a crazy play, but his singleton heart had nothing to do with it. If South had three very small clubs, the heart finesse at the first trick would be the correct play. A finesse succeeds about half of the time, and South has no other reasonable play for the contract if his clubs are worthless. Half a loaf is better than none.

Strong Clubs
Dealer's strong clubs change the situation. He should take the ace of hearts, draw trumps, and lead the jack of clubs for a finesse. If the finesse loses to the queen of clubs, South can later lead the 10 of clubs for a second finesse.

South can keep the club loss down to one trick if West has the king of clubs, the queen of clubs, or both. He loses two club tricks only if East has both the king and queen. The odds are 3 to 1 in dealer's favor. To put it another way, South will succeed three-quarters of the time if he tries two club finesses.

Just stick to Poor Alfred to get rich: Three-quarters of a loaf is better than half.

Daily Question
Partner opens the bidding with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-10 5, H-K J 8 4 3, D-K 9 5, C-Q 6 2. What do you say?
Answer: Bid one no trump. The hand isn't strong enough for a response of two hearts, and the spades aren't good enough for a raise to two spades. The response of one no trump is the only remaining possibility.

$10,000 Golf Course Fence Turned Down

Budget Committee Unanimous Against
'Doc' Wonsler Plea

The city council's 1960 budget committee unanimously has refused to recommend furnishing $10,000 to erect a fence along the western boundary of Reid Municipal Golf course.

Action came immediately after the committee listened to an impassioned plea in favor of the fence by Laymon Wonsler.

Why Not Parks?
The Appleton Golf association leader said he could stand the damage to the course by vandals and the debris which school children and others scatter over it, but he couldn't stand by and let children be hurt by flying balls because they were permitted to wander into playing areas.

Ald. Kenneth Priebe told the committee he checked all residents of street abutting the west boundary and found only two who favored the fence. Principal objection, he said, is that it will lower property values.

"If you put the fence up here, why not around all the city parks, too?" he asked.

Wants To See Pictures
One committee member said he has pictures showing the fence around the rest of the course is not maintained by course employees. It collects litter and weeds are permitted to grow tall, he said.

Wonsler said he plays nearly every day and never saw the fence in the condition described.

ment answered the call at 3:45 a.m. The residence is on County Trunk O about six miles southwest of here.

Prince, a bachelor, was awakened by the barking of his dog and discovered the fire. He went to a neighbor's house to call firemen.

Park Budget Set At $181,361; Tax Levy Is $153,991

The city council's 1960 budget committee has approved $181,361.17 for spending next year by the park board.

The amount includes $149,546 in regular annual costs, $10,000 for improvement of new parks and $21,815 to inaugurate a tree control program.

Park board revenues are expected to amount to $27,370, putting the tax levy demand at $153,991, an increase of $37,918 over this year.

The park board operated this year on a $160,574 budget, and estimated costs through Dec. 31 as $162,527.

The bulk of costs is from employees' salaries, $105,000, and other benefits, $10,310.

Express Agency Asks Hearing

6 Communities May Lose Service if PSC Approves Move

Kaukauna — Public hearings on application of Railway Express Agency, Inc., for authority to withdraw service and close its office at six Fox Cities area communities begin Dec. 3 at city hall here by the Public Service commission.

Included in the request are Reedsville and Whitelaw, Manitowoc county; Brillion, Calumet county; Hortonville, Kaukauna and Kimberly, Outagamie county.

Applications to the PSC for the hearings state that after Nov. 15 the Chicago and North Western Railway company will not provide service for express shipments in these communities.

Brillion, Hortonville, Kaukauna and Kimberly truck service out of Appleton will be considered by the PSC.

Lutheran School Faculty to Attend Milwaukee Conference

Kaukauna — Five members of the faculty of Trinity Lutheran school will attend the Wisconsin State Teachers conference of Lutheran Parochial school instructors at Milwaukee Thursday and Friday.

There will be no classes at the school on those days. Faculty members attending will include Fredrick Mueller, Wilbert Luchring, Arnold Breitung, Miss Elizabeth Buss and Mrs. Calvin Spice.

Arab Republic, Sudan Settle Nile Dispute

Cairo, Egypt — The United Arab Republic and Sudan have settled their long dispute over sharing Nile waters, Cairo newspapers said today.

President Nasser took a personal hand in the negotiations between U. A. R. and Sudanese delegations Sunday and got them to agree on a compromise, the newspapers said.

The only issue remaining to be settled is the compensation Sudan will get when the proposed Aswan high dam on the Nile floods Sudan's frontier region of Halfa, said the newspaper Al Ahram.

Budget Committee Figures Reveal 9-Cent Cut Possible in Tax Rate

A cut of 9 cents per $1,000 of assessed value in Appleton's real estate and personal property tax rate is possible, the city budget committee's nearly complete figures reveal.

The exact amount of cut—if there is one—hinges on three questions unanswered by the committee and on annual dollar demands of Outagamie and Calumet county boards and the state.

Budget committee will face the three questions at their concluding meeting tonight, public hearings today up $67,552 in tax levy request. Calumet county's proposed budget awaits Nov. 12 hearings with the levy request down about $38,000.

Spending Up $372,881

Spending for strictly city purposes — schools and general government activities — was fixed at $6,788,154.30 as the budget committee finished its nightly hearings with department heads last week.

This is $372,881 more than was budgeted for spending; this year, but $50,994.63 less than department heads wanted.

The increased spending is offset by greatly increased estimates of other-than-property tax incomes and a hike in real estate and personal property assessments.

Other-than-tax incomes, such as state income tax shares, aids for highways and the like, are predicted at $2,864,875 for next year.

Policy Reversed

This is an increase of $284,423 over the amount predicted for this year, an increase of $2,523 over the amount received from the same sources this year and an increase of $10,440 over the amount suggested to the committee by Broehm.

If the committee's recommended schedule of other-than-tax incomes is adopted, the tax levy demand, subject to tonight's questions and hearings, it will represent a reversal of last year's policy, which dictated a surplus of about $200,000.

The real estate and personal property assessments were increased by $2,884,100 to $115,654,925. The breakdown shows $113,299,300 for Outagamie county, Appleton and $2,355,725 for Calumet-Appleton.

Assessment Cushion

Broehm said the increased assessment total would produce $102,472 at this year's strictly-city-purposes rate of $34.53 per $1,000 assessed value.

The sum, like the hiked estimates of incomes, helps provide a cushion against a tax rate hike.

The tax levy demand, subject to tonight's questions and answers, is $3,983,155, Broehm reported.

Broehm said the $34.44 rate for city purposes is 9 cents per $1,000 of assessed value less than the rate this year and 53 cents per $1,000 less than the budget committee was asked to recommend.

$88,636 Up

The recommended tax levy demand of $3,983,155 represents an increase of $88,636 over this year, but a decrease of $61,297 in the amount originally submitted by the committee by department heads.

The budget committee will take its recommendations to a committee of the whole (informal) discussion of the entire council Wednesday night.

If council approval comes Wednesday, a public hearing will be ordered.

Two Hurt in Accident on Town Road

Two young men were injured, neither seriously, about 2:30 Sunday afternoon on a town of Oneida road near the Sacred Heart seminary.

They were Richard Danforth, 24, and Louis Ninham, 25, both of route 1, Oneida.

According to the county police Danforth, the driver, said his car skidded on the freshly resurfaced road and hit a ditch.

A car driven by Robert Angell, 18, of 308 1/2 E. Eighth street, Kaukauna, collided

Lesson in English

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED: Avoid the use of BETTER, to mean WELL, as in the expression, "I am all better now." One who is not yet recovered from an illness may say that he is better than he was at his worst. However, one who has recovered is well.

OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED: ED: Tureen (vessel for soup). Pronounce tyu - rean, accent on second syllable.

OFTEN MISPELLED: Depository (one who receives a deposit); "ary." Depository (place where anything is deposited); "ory."

WORD STUDY: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: nexus; connection or interconnection; tie; link. "We shall now study the nexus of cause and effect."

Negro Pupils Ahead

Richmond, Va. — Negro pupils outnumbered whites in the 1959-60 school registration here for the first time in history. The record showed 19,204 Negro children and 17,749 whites in the city's 57 public schools.

4 Men Hurt In Accident At 76, 10

One in Serious Condition; Second
Crash Injures 3

Four men were hurt, one seriously, in a 2-car collision at Highways 76 and 10 early this morning.

In Appleton Memorial hospital are Donald Goodman, 25, route 2, Appleton, driver of one of the cars; his brother, Glenn G., 20, same address, and the owner-passenger of the car, Walter Fisher, 34, of 1805 W. Highland avenue. Driver of the other car, Fred Ulmer, 20, route 1, Appleton, also was hospitalized. All were taken to the hospital by Larry's ambulance.

Glenn Goodman is in serious condition with a partially severed ear, severe face cuts and cuts and bruises on his body. His brother and Fisher received cuts and bruises. Ulmer received cuts on his neck and shoulder. Donald Goodman told county police he stopped for the stop sign, then pulled out onto Highway 10.

Around Home

An attractive, little trick or treat in the neighborhood of S. Bouten street proved herself either a humanitarian or a clever entrepreneur Halloween night.

She made her rounds with two brown sacks slung in either hand. And she got them both filled equally.

"One is for my little brother," she explained sweetly to householders. "He's home sick and can't come out."

Freshman Lecture

Walter Agard, of the University of Wisconsin, will give the Freshman Studies lecture on "The Greek View of Man," at 11 a. m. Tuesday in Stansbury theater at Lawrence college's Music-Drama center.

about 6:30 p.m. Saturday by Larry's ambulance after their car rammed another turning left at 2912 E. Wisconsin road.

Richard Houfek, 21, of 2219 N. Clark street, was driving a 1960 car with 300 miles on the speedometer when it collided with a car waiting to turn left and driven by Chris Mullen, 72, of 2912 E. Wisconsin. The new car's owner, Gordon Balthazor, 21, of 833 W. Packard street, received cuts on the head and face and possible broken left foot; Houfek received cuts and bruises, and a passenger, Gene Rosenbohm, 26, route 1, Menasha, was bruised. Mullen was uninjured.

Rev. Dr. Evans, Former Ripon President, Dies

Headed College
For 22 Years;
Retired in 1943

The Rev. Dr. Silas Evans, widely-known educator and former Ripon college president, died Sunday in Milwaukee after a long illness. He was 83.

Dr. Evans, who suffered a stroke last February, retired as president of Ripon in 1943, 22 years after he was named to the post at 35, making him the youngest president in Ripon's history.

He also was president of Occidental college, Los Angeles, between 1917 and 1921, when he returned to Ripon at request of the faculty, alumni and trustees.

Lectured for UW
After he retired, the Rev. Dr. Evans was a professor at Carleton and St. Olaf colleges and pastor of the Federated Congregational-Baptist church, all in Northfield, Minn. He also lectured with the University of Wisconsin extension division.

During the 1920s, when Sinclair Lewis and H. L. Menck were writing disparagingly of churches and organized religion, Dr. Evans came out strongly against both authors. He was born in Scranton, Pa., and graduated from Ripon in 1898. He also earned degrees from Princeton university and theological seminary.

Funeral Tuesday
Before joining the Ripon staff, he was a professor of Hebrew and Greek at the University of Wisconsin for a year.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the Philip J. Weiss chapel, Milwaukee, with burial in Ripon.

Survivors include his widow; two sons, R. H. Evans, Wayzata, Minn., and Dr. Silas M. Evans, Milwaukee; one daughter, Mrs. Truman Marsh, Fox Point; 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

State Man Runs For Vice President

John Engh, a 41-year-old Oconomowoc businessman, announced today he will seek the Democratic nomination for the vice presidency.

Engh is running on a program of "anti-apathy." He has been a Wisconsin organization Democrat and presently is a state field representative for the party.

"I am concerned about the apathy our young people show toward politics and the functioning of our government," he said.

Vandalism Reported At Medina School

Halloween vandalism at the Medina school, one-quarter mile south of Medina on County Trunk M, was reported to Outagamie County Sheriff Robert Heinritz today.

About eight basement windows were broken and an outdoor fireplace was wrecked, the report said.

Survivors include the widow, Robert; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl McAllen, Seymour; two daughters, Kristine and Cynthia, both at home; and one sister, Mrs. Janet Housum, Milwaukee.

Committee Earmarks $50,000 For City Employee Pay Hikes

The city council's 1960 budget committee has earmarked $50,000 for pay increases for city employees.

Committeemen expect to adjust salaries of employees as determined by a state bureau of personnel survey, retroactively this year as far as $31,800 will go and through next year.

The $31,800 was withheld from this year's $50,000 for salary increases until the state study was finished. Indications are it will mean employees will receive retroactive wages for eight or nine months.

A state bureau representative last week told the budget committee that a full year of the new recommended wage schedule would cost the city $38,983.

If the city chooses to regard the initial recommendations as bringing the salaries into line and goes to the first of a 3-step plan on Jan. 1, costs next year would be about $68,000, he said.

The initial adjustments would give salaries employees an additional $12.61 a month on the average and hourly-paid workers an additional $9.78 a month on the average.

All figures are exclusive of the water department, but include the library and park department, committeemen said.

Details of the state's recommendations on pay and job classifications are being withheld pending a meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday at which other aldermen, the water commission and park and library boards will hear an explanation by a state bureau representative.

Arrested May 11, 1959, in the same court for drunken driving. He was arrested at 8:53 p.m. Saturday on Highway 21, town of Omro, after Winnebago police observed him driving erratically. He tested .22 on the breathalyzer. A rating of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Westerback was fined $100 and his license was revoked for one year. He was arrested by state highway patrolmen at 8:20 p.m. Friday. He refused the breathalyzer test.

Million-Dollar Port Plan Details Given

Airport Committee Decides It Will Hold Meeting With North Central

Final details of the million-dollar expansion program for the Outagamie county airport were given the county board today by its airport committee.

First stage of the construction program is to take two years, 1961-63, and cost between $774,600 and $785,200, depending on whether the proposed cross runway is extended across present Highway 41 and the road re-routed. Extension of the main runway also involves closing French road, a town of Grand Chute road. Cost of later projects, likely to run the cost over a million dollars, was not given.

The airport committee plans to take the plan to North Central Airlines' main office in Minneapolis for a combined meeting with airline experts, Herbert Foth of Foth and Porath, Green Bay firm hired by the state aeronautical commission to make the plan, members of the chamber of commerce airport committee, and representatives of the advisory citizen's group headed by Gordon Bulbolz. Committee chairman Mark Catlin will make the arrangements.

Plans for the airport's first construction stage include:

For extending the cross runway across present Highway 41 about 255 acres of land for $127,500, 116 acres of air rights for $23,500, east-west runway (present paved strip) $60,000 for construction and $6,000 for lights for a 2,000-foot extension, north-south cross runway $99,000 for construction and $9,900 for lights for 3,300-foot length, $160,000 for 8,000 feet of taxiways and $24,000 for lighting, $115,000 for apron construction, $25,000 for drainage work, $15,000 for an electrical control vault, $50,000 for the first unit of the terminal building, $20,000 for sanitary sewer and water main construction, $10,000 for terminal area construction and $40,000 for relocation of present Highway 41. (The plan envisions the terminal area next to Highway 41, across the proposed cross runway from the present temporary terminal.)

For building the cross runway without closing present Highway 41 about 152 acres of land for $91,200, 105 acres of air rights for $21,000, taxiways $194,000 for construction and $29,100 for lighting, $40,000 for drainage work, $30,000 for sanitary sewer and water main construction.

and $25,000 for terminal area construction. The plan also includes all other items of the other plan and at the same cost, with the exception of Highway 41 relocation.

If the cross runway is built across Highway 41, tentative plans indicate a re-routing of about a third of a mile, utilizing Ballard road (County Trunk E).

Second Stage
Second stage of construction, 1963-67, includes widening the main east-west runway from 100 to 150 feet, installing high intensity lighting system for that runway, more parking space in the terminal area, apron extension and lighting, more drainage-work in the terminal area and an overlay over the present east-west runway to bring loading capacity up to 30,000 pounds.

Third Stage of work, 1967-70, includes a control tower, second unit of the terminal building, approach lighting system, instrument landing system, expansion of terminal area facilities, storage hangars construction and more aprons and taxiways for them.

Fourth Stage
Fourth stage of work, 1971-75, includes construction of a runway parallel to the east-west strip, taxiways and possible further expansion of the terminal.

Foth and Porath conclude that the present airport site can be expanded to take care of predictable airport traffic and recommend adoption of the plan entailing re-routing Highway 41. The highway probably will be a county trunk by the time airport construction is begun, since the state's timetable of relocating the road about three-fourths of a mile north between Highway 10 and Kaukauna is for completion in 1961.

The airport committee has withheld any move on a survey of alternate locations pending its meeting with North Central.

These Two Maps Show the two alternative cross runway designs for Outagamie county's proposed million-dollar airport expansion proposal. The top map shows the cross runway routed over present Highway 41 with the highway to be re-routed about a third of a mile. The lower map shows the cross runway without re-routing Highway 41. The runway, taxiway and apron are shown in black. All other runways shown are proposed construction. Extension of the main east-west runway would require closing of French road under both plans. The terminal area would stay about where it is under the plan with the cross runway closing 41, but would be moved to face Highway 41 if the runway does not cross 41. The strips shown parallel to the runways are taxiways, with the exception of the second from the top, wider strip along the east-west runway, which is a parallel runway to handle lighter aircraft at peak traffic times. The engineering firm recommends the plan shown in the top map.

Having Hogs Within Limits of Village Gets Fine for Woman.

Little Chute — Mrs. Harriet Huiting, route 4, Appleton, was fined $5 in justice court for having hogs within the village limits.

Police said Mrs. Huiting received repeated warnings about keeping the animals within the limits of the village which is prohibited by ordinance. At one time she did get rid of the hogs but then got some more, police said.

elimination of the personal property tax, the elimination of the state income surtax and the retention of the present individual and corporate income taxes.

Asked for Sales Tax
"If the property tax relief proposed is granted, we would recommend that revenues lost by localities be replaced by a form of general sales tax specifically exempting food and other appropriate necessities," the subcommittee led by John C. Lobb of Milwaukee said.

"A broadly based new revenue source is necessary to provide property tax relief. This tax would provide a flexible and stable source of future revenues to fit an expanding economy. It has relative ease of administration and comes within the 'pay as you go principle,' the committee added.

The committee had other ideas, some of them especially designed to broaden the financial resources of municipalities, such as higher local motor vehicle taxes, and enabling legislation to permit cities, towns, villages and counties "to levy special taxes, for local purposes in order that the burdensome and regressive property tax may be further reduced."

This Is The Story Of A Slogan:

A BETTER LIFE FOR YOU

... And Of A Life Insurance Contract:

the "BETTER LIFE" policy

We really started something in 1835 — mutual life insurance in America. But it wasn't until 1955 that we hit upon five words that aptly describe its purpose: A BETTER LIFE FOR YOU. While generally descriptive of the security provided by all life insurance, these words have special significance when applied to the broad provisions of our contract. Hence, we are now taking the next logical step of referring to our contract as the "Better Life" policy.

The New England Life contract offers THE FINEST COMBINATION OF GUARANTEED BENEFITS AT ANY PRICE.

Probably you have seen New England Life's colorful national advertising of "a better life for you." Currently, the more explicit statement above is also being featured. We hope you will consider this statement — and the facts behind it — before your next purchase of life insurance. Ask for an advance briefing. Our agents have been provided with a comprehensive guidebook that they will be glad to go over with you. It points up the significance of contract provisions, advantages to look for, cost factors and other considerations important to you. Simply phone the number below.

NOTE TO POLICYHOLDERS: Various new provisions have recently been added to the New England Life contract. Certain of the more significant provisions may benefit you. Be sure you know what they are. Let us know when it would be convenient for an agent to see you about this.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Local Tax Bases Also Under Fire

Nelson's Unit Says 'Oppressive' Property Levies Need Study

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The citizens advisory committee on tax policy, publicized as dedicated to the task of state tax revision, is equally or more concerned about rewriting the financial underpinnings of the local governments, it took pains to emphasize at its most recent meeting.

In a series of working premises, composed for the attention of the public, the committee declared:

"The financial problems of our municipalities are more acute than those of the state government itself. By forcing the localities to rely almost entirely on property taxes and shared taxes and state aids we have reached a point where these governmental units are literally unable to help themselves."

That deliberate emphasis upon the twin objectives of its work — local tax relief and rewriting of state fiscal arrangements — has considerable political significance.

Any realistic approach to both objectives, all observers are aware, will require a basic revision of state-local taxing arrangements, through a new tax such as the general sales tax.

The combination of local property tax stabilization, or local property tax relief, and state budget balancing will require revenue in quantities that only such a radical reconstruction of the tax base could provide.

Halloween Was Quiet Both in City, County for Second Year

Halloween was quiet in Appleton and in Outagamie county, with few complaints reported and few youths abroad in a destructive mood. It was the second consecutive peaceful year.

Appleton police reported 13 complaints between shortly before 7 p. m. and about 1:30 a. m. Saturday and Sunday.

Two of the complaints were relatively serious—two youths took a UNICEF collection box containing about $2 from a 9-year-old boy in the 1100 block of W. Prospect avenue about 7:40 p. m. and a boy about 14 or 15 threatened a 12-year-old girl with a knife about 8:34 p. m. in the 1000 block of W. Packard street. In neither case could police find the culprits.

Sheriff Robert Heinritz reported rural Outagamie county was very quiet, with little traffic and few complaints, none serious.

Halloween ended between 1 and 1:30 a. m. Sunday with two complaints of open hydrants in Appleton.

Police, working in teams in the downtown area, found little to do other than try to keep warm and talk to each other. Soaping windows was at a minimum.

For the second straight year, Police Chief Walter J. Hendricks congratulated Appleton youth and parents for a quiet and well-behaved Halloween.

Chilton Girl Hurt in Crash

2 Cars Collide Almost Head-on as One Turns Off Road

Chilton — Audrey Stecker, 17, route 4, Chilton, was injured at 1:35 a. m. Sunday when the car in which she was riding was involved in an accident on a town road about five miles northeast of Chilton.

Drivers involved were Franklin Schneider, 23, route 2, Chilton, and Terrance F. Schmitz, Hilbert.

The cars collided almost head-on when the Schmitz car turned left toward a farm driveway and into the path of the oncoming Schneider car, county police said.

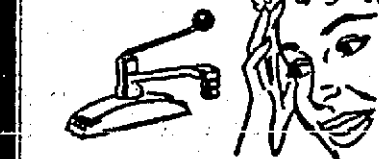

Passenger Hurt Miss Stecker, a passenger in the Schneider auto, was treated for a cut forehead at Calumet Memorial hospital.

Donald Meyerhafer, 25, route 3, Kaukauna, told police his car went out of control on the wet pavement as he was passing another car on Highway 57, two miles south of New Holstein at 9 p. m., Friday.

Meyerhafer's car skidded about 161 feet before striking a utility pole.

Nixon Asked To Speak at Dedication

May Appear at Post Office Rites in Green Bay

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — Officials planning dedication rites for Green Bay's new post office were hopeful today that Vice President Nixon would be among the dignitaries on the program Nov. 13.

Nixon will be in Appleton that morning for an address and it was believed he could be induced to attend the dedication program here at 2 p.

m. before leaving for Indianapolis for an address later that day.

Nixon is the second speaker in the "Appleton and the World Community" series sponsored by the Appleton Post-Crescent and Lawrence college. He will speak at 10:15 a. m. Nov. 13 in Lawrence Memorial chapel. There are no more chapel tickets available for the speech.

Byrnes' Request

The office of Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, in Washington said it could make no announcement of a change in Nixon's itinerary but it was hinted that overtures had been made by Byrnes, a close friend, that he make the side trip to Green Bay.

Byrnes and Nixon will attend a testimonial dinner for Rep. Melvin Laird at Wisconsin Rapids the night of Nov. 12 and Byrnes also will attend Nixon's Lawrence college address. The two have been close friends since they served in the house together.

Our Growth Is PROOF That People Want QUALITY and SERVICE More Than Anything Else

Service has always been our business. We've repaired more appliances than just about anyone else in town. But people kept asking us, "What IS the best make of appliances?" "What kind do you get the least service calls on?"

So we decided to take on RCA Whirlpool, a superior line of appliances that we knew from experience were quality built through and through. The results were most gratifying. We've had to move to new and larger quarters, expand our service and sales departments, and in general build a large scale retail operation. We are now considered one of the largest independent appliance stores in the Appleton trading area for sales and service of automatic washers and dryers.

Almost invariably, when people come here, they like what they see. They like the exceptional RCA Whirlpool features. They like the ironclad guarantees. They like the low-cost financing we can give them. And they like the fact that they can count on 100% good service that backs up their purchases. Remember, we are the only factory authorized RCA Whirlpool sales and service dealer in Appleton.

People who buy here become satisfied customers. You don't have to take our word for it. Next time you're in the market for a new appliance stop in and see what we have. You'll find that feature for feature, dollar for dollar, your money buys more with Good Housekeeping and RCA Whirlpool.

We'll be looking forward to seeing you.

Oshkosh Youth County's 14th Traffic Death

Earl Schettl, 19, Dies of Injuries When Car Hits Pole

Oshkosh.—An Oshkosh youth, Earl Schettl, 19, 2226 Harrison street, became Winnebago county's 14th traffic fatality of 1959. He died at 2:41 a. m. Sunday of injuries received at 10:45 p.m. Saturday when his car hit a utility pole on Harrison street just south of E. Murdoch street.

The death was the second of the year within the city of Oshkosh. Dr. G. A. Steele, Winnebago county coroner, said Schettl died of a lacerated lung and brain injuries.

Three other Oshkosh young men, all 20 years of age, fled on foot from the car after the accident but later reported to police. They were Richard Berry, Gary Koelbl and Dean Koss. They suffered only minor injuries.

One of the passengers said he thought the car was traveling 60 miles an hour in second gear when Schettl lost control at a slight curve. Skid marks indicated the car traveled 100 feet straight ahead and 228 feet sideways before crashing into the utility. The accident happened shortly after the youths left a tavern on Harrison street.

Grade Coach Injured In Fall From Ladder

Menasha — Leo "Sam" Kraus, 45, 115 Tayco street, St. Mary's grade school coach received several fractured ribs and a back injury in a fall from a ladder at his home Sunday. He was admitted to Theda Clark hospital at 8:15 p.m. Sunday.

Jerold Finch, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Finch, 242 Prospect street, also was admitted to the hospital at 8:15 p.m. Sunday after he ran into a tree. He received face and head lacerations and is in good condition but was held at the hospital for observation.

Education Week Theme Is Selected

'Praise and Appraise Your Schools,' Title of School Observance Nov. 8-14

Neenah — "Praise and Appraise Your Schools," will be the theme of American Education week observance Nov. 8 to 14 in city schools.

Special programs, displays and meetings are being scheduled to give parents ample opportunity to visit the schools and become acquainted with faculty members and facilities.

Opening the observance will be a radio panel discussion

Goal: $126,400

Receipts: $91,306
Contributions Reach $91,000 In Chest Drive

Neenah — Although the actual solicitation for the Neenah-Menasha Community Chest campaign for $126,400 closed Saturday, total contributions are at only $91,306.73, officials reported today.

That figure is approximately 72 per cent of the goal. However, many reports still have not been turned in and Chest officials are hopeful the goal will be reached.

The $126,400 figure is the largest in the history of the Community Chest in the Twin Cities. Last year the goal was $121,800 which wasn't quite reached.

Board Is Offered $100,000 Surplus To Cut Tax Levy

County Hospital Trustee Head Makes Offer After Annual Report

Oshkosh — The Winnebago county board was offered a $100,000 surplus this morning by the county hospital to lower the 1960 tax levy.

J. F. Shea, chairman of hospital trustees, made this offer after giving an annual report of expenditures of the county farm and hospital. He said budget requests for 1960 will total $549,000. Of this amount, a $36,000 figure was added over last year to cover salary increases, a new group insurance plan and rising operating costs.

State and federal aid in 1960 will total $238,000, revenues from the county home $60,000 and revenues from the county farm $12,000 for a total of $310,000 in expected revenues.

Additional Revenues
"We have lived within our budget for the last two years, even under it," Shea said. "We have also received additional revenues not anticipated." He suggested the county board take the $100,000 surplus and add it to expected revenues to be subtracted from the $549,000 expenditures.

The tax levy for the county hospital would then be $139,000.

"This is the best news we've had in a long time," Chairman of the Board Joseph F. Drexler said. "We didn't expect something like this to happen," he added.

County home costs are estimated at $180,000 with off-setting revenues of $110,000, bringing the amount to be raised through taxes down to $70,000.

Shea said the per capita cost for hospital patients went up 37 cents to a new high of $25.52 per week per person. The state average of $21.86 is $1.68 more than last year.

Losses $14,000
Winnebago county has been losing about $14,000 on the outside-of-county residents at the hospital since it can collect only the $21.86 state costs per patient.

Shea said the $4,000 paid by the county in legal fees to Racine county was the best money the county had paid out in recent years.

He explained the supreme court decision allows the state to collect for the county, the actual cost for care of out-of-county patients, from property owned by the patient or from relatives, rather than state average costs. This will reduce Winnebago county's losses.

Report Only Minor Pranks

Menasha — Fifteen street signs turned around and some bent were the major instances of Halloween pranks reported today by Police Chief Peter P. Clark.

Two telephone booth windows, at Main and Mill streets and Third and DePere streets were knocked out.

Clark thanked the park and recreation department for staging the six Halloween parties Saturday night and Supt. of Schools M. J. Gegan for providing supervised facilities in the five school buildings.

Neenah police also reported only minor Halloween pranks. Many store windows in the downtown areas of both cities were soaped or waxed.

160th New Home Permit at Neenah

Neenah — Radtke Real Estate Development, Inc., has been issued a permit for a $12,000 home on S. Lake street according to Carlton F. Williams, building inspector.

The permits raise the total for the year to 160, just one behind last year at this time.

Reformation Day Observance Was held at St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday night by the Neenah-Menasha council of churches and the Twin City Ministerial association. Taking part in the service were, left to right, the Rev. H. E. Norenberg, pastor of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church and president of the council of churches; Dr. Arthur R. McKay, president of McCormick Theological seminary at Chicago and outstanding Presbyterian official; and the Rev. Arthur R. Tingley, pastor of the host church and president of the Ministerial association.

Committee To Continue On Petitions

Menasha — Petitions urging adoption of a 21-year minimum beer drinking age will continue in circulation on a block-by-block and ward-by-ward basis, a committee decided Sunday.

The informal group, made up of the youth division of the Community council and the Menasha Community Betterment committee, will urge the city council to enact a proposed 21-year ordinance.

Last week, the committee took no action on the ordinance, holding it for further study. The ordinance is expected to come up for discussion by the full council, which will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday above the fire station.

The civic group began acting after the council approved a beer tavern license, giving the city its second "beer bar," in which those above 18 legally may congregate.

Second is the problem of protesting. "People often define Protestantism not in what it stands for but in what they are against."

Dr. McKay called upon the Protestants to define their affirmation of faith, to state what they are for and what they believe.

The first way is to have a sense of history, to learn all that Christianity has done for

Rural Larsen Boy In Good Condition After Gun Mishap

Larsen — Roy Haase, Jr., 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Haase, route 1, Larsen, was in good condition at Theda Clark Memorial hospital this morning after suffering numerous pellet wounds in his face and body after a hunting accident on the family farm at 9:55 a.m. Saturday.

The boy was injured when a shotgun carried by his brother Kenneth accidentally discharged. Another brother, Kelvin, 3, walking on a road nearby, was struck by one of the pellets. Kelvin was treated at the hospital and released.

St. Patrick May Build Onto School

Parish Members Hear Needs, First Plans for Addition

Menasha — Subject to approval by diocesan authorities, St. Patrick parish will build a combined school addition and convent, to be in use by September 1960.

Parish members Sunday heard reports by trustees and the building and finance committees.

Neither architectural style nor architect has been selected. The presentation Sunday was made on a basis of six additional classrooms and discussion centered about building between four and eight rooms without decision, according to Milton Rimmel, a parish trustee.

In outlining the so far unofficial and tentative cost, the finance committee recommended aiming at a 6-year debt repayment period. An early estimate, subject to a great number of factors, would be for a parish debt of $300,000. (The parish two months ago paid off its debt for church remodeling.)

The building plans, when made, must get final approval from the Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, bishop of the Green Bay diocese.

The convent is in poor condition and the school has been holding classes in basement rooms, disapproved by the state department of public instruction.

Neenah Woman Fined $5 After Accident

Neenah — Elizabeth McNamara, 210 Gruenwald avenue, was fined $5 when she pleaded guilty of backing her car illegally before Police Justice Edmund P. Arpin this morning.

She was arrested at 11:02 p.m. Friday after she backed out of a parking stall in the 200 block of W. Wisconsin avenue and collided with a car driven west by Allen E. Bietler, Jr., 23, route 1, Larsen, and then bumped into a parked car in an adjoining stall owned by Gerald A. Wagner, 844 Milwaukee street, Menasha.

Rubbish Collection

Menasha — Non-burnable waste materials will be collected Wednesday in district 2, from Chute street north to Third street. Rubbish should be at curbs by 7 a.m.

Haugh asked Menasha residents not to put garbage in paper bags on terraces since the bags can become weakened by rain or knocked over by the wind and contents dumped.

Lincoln school has set its program for Nov. 17 with an open house planned. Each teacher will have an individual program. A PTA meeting will be held and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Good Samaritans Never Farther Than Telephone

London — "I've called you," said the flat, tired voice on the telephone, "because I think I'm going to kill myself."

"You must do nothing of the kind," said the voice that answered the call. "Just give me your name, address and telephone number — and do nothing until we get there. We'll come in a hurry."

There was a long pause. A desperate sigh. And then, the caller identified himself.

"It's true then," he asked, almost with the pathos of a child, "that you care whether or not I kill myself?"

"Of course we care."

In less than 10 minutes a Samaritan arrived at the address, listened patiently to a story of loneliness and despair and talked the man out of committing suicide.

The initial visit was followed up by others, and the man who thought he had nothing to live for, found a new interest in life and friends.

In Business Five Years
This remarkable organization, the Samaritans, was started five years ago by the Rev. Chad Varah, rector of St. Stephen Walbrook.

In this city of eight million — where a human being can become more lonely than in the heart of a jungle — he felt there was a great need for such a service.

The Samaritans offer a 24-hour service seven days a week for those "tempted to suicide or despair."

In the five years they have answered over 1,800 desperate calls.

Of these, about 40 per cent were from people on the brink of suicide.

All of them were persuaded from self destruction.

Apart from a small full time staff of workers, whose salaries are paid from a grant by the Gulbenkian foundation, the Samaritans rely on voluntary help.

Presently there are about 125 volunteers.

They devote their spare time to visiting clients, do telephone duty during the evening and on weekends.

They sleep in the "bunk room" in the church tower so they can answer calls that come in the night.

These people, men and women, have had no previous training in such work. But once a Samaritan they attend special classes.

They offer their assistance with religious problems, arrange for the treatment of seriously disturbed clients and give readily of their friendship to the lonely.

Overcome Shyness
The Samaritans are unable to help people with financial or housing problems. They don't have money enough for this.

Their investigations have found that shyness is behind a lot of the troubles: a shyness that prevents people from joining clubs and organizations where they can meet others.

Their job is to overcome this shyness.

Christmas day is the peak time for suicides and would-be suicides in London.

The Samaritans say the explanation is obvious.

On days meant for family reunions and general good companionship, the very lonely are driven to desperate acts.

Conferences Planned At Winneconne for Parents, Teachers
Winneconne — Parent-teacher conferences are scheduled Wednesday at Winneconne Central school and at the Winchester school on Nov. 11.

Robert Linstedt recently was elected president of the Winneconne Future Farmers. Other officers are James Olson, vice president; Jay Boss, secretary; and Robert Miller, treasurer. The group discussed the sale of seeds to raise funds for a Chicago trip.

Mrs. Lillian Calkins will be in charge of a memorial service at the meeting of the Eastern star at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Masonic hall. The refreshment committee includes Mrs. Myrtle Zimmerman, chairman, and Ralph Zeheer and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Calkins.

Neenah Adult School Offers Pacific Movie

Colored Travelog To Show Views of Hawaii, Hong Kong

Neenah — A travelog program for adults, "Portraits of the Pacific," will be presented by the Neenah Vocational and Adult school at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Neenah High school auditorium.

Showing the colored movies will be William Moore, co-producer and co-narrator of Colorlogues. Admission is free.

The 1 1/2 hour program will include a steamer trip from San Francisco to Hawaii where the various islands will be shown in their beauty and activities. These scenes will include the orchid industry, a Japanese costume festival, a Hawaiian feast with its hula dances and pictures of a molten lava stream flowing down from a volcano and wiping out everything in its way.

The other places visited in the travelog will be the Portuguese colony of Macau and Hong Kong, both bordering Red China.

Moore has produced colored travel movies for Paramount and Twentieth Century — Fox film companies and filmed a documentary on the construction of air bases overseas during World War II.

Travel Service To Enlarge Office

Agent Gives Ways to Use Cranberries

Oshkosh — Sauce, jelly, relish, conserve, cake, and desserts are among the ways to serve cranberries, which grow in abundance in Wisconsin. The state produces an average of 300,000 barrels of cranberries annually.

The recipe for cranberry whip, listed by Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent, requires one-half pint cranberries, one-half cup water, two tablespoons gelatin, one-third cup sugar, four egg whites, two tablespoons sugar and one and one-half teaspoons lemon juice.

Cook cranberries in water for eight minutes. Press through a sieve. Soften the gelatin in three tablespoons water and add to berries. Stir in sugar and chill. Beat egg whites until stiff and add two tablespoons sugar. Then add egg whites. Cranberry mixture with lemon juice. Chill before serving. Cranberries should be washed and repackaged before freezing in air tight containers. A sirup can be added using three-fourths cup sugar to four cups water. Pour cold sirup over cranberries in the container, leaving one-half inch headspace.

Theda Clark Memorial Hospital today put into operation its new intensive care program whereby surgical patients will receive almost constant nursing supervision and for longer periods during their recovery periods, such as shown above. The difficulty of securing sufficient personal nurses for each patient and the high cost of such service has led the hospital to embark on the program of providing more nursing service than normal to such persons from its own staff and at a cost far less than the patient would pay for private nursing care.

For Seriously Ill Intensive Care Unit Opens Today At Theda-Clark Memorial Hospital

Neenah — The new intensive care unit for group nursing of the seriously ill, announced a week ago, was opened today at Theda Clark Memorial hospital.

A hospital report said of the new intensive care unit:

"The function of this unit is to concentrate in one service area those patients who are critically, seriously or acutely ill and who require and will benefit from a large amount of highly skilled nursing care and close, frequent, constant, nursing observation."

"Such patients include, for example, major surgical cases following release from the operating room, multiple injury or burn cases, major or threatened gastro-intestinal hemorrhage, acute coronary occlusion, pneumonia, acute thrombophlebitis with danger of pulmonary embolus. Pediatric or psychiatric patients may be included."

Made Survey

Hospital Administrator Gerald Aldridge installed the new idea for group care after a survey made by him and Dr. George N. Pratt, Jr., president of the medical staff at the hospital. The need for the unit stems from the high cost of special duty nursing and the shortage of nurses so trained.

Theda Clark will give special in-service training to all of its intensive nursing staff. These units will be staffed around the clock, each team under a registered nurse, and

Menasha Society Wins Top Award

State Historians Honor Unit for Outstanding Service During Year

By JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison—The Menasha Historical society won the coveted Reuben Gold Thwaiter trophy at the 10th annual institute on local history of the Wisconsin State Historical society Saturday.

The trophy in memory of the state society's director from 1885 to 1913 is awarded annually to the local society producing the most outstanding program for the year.

Robert B. L. Murphy, state society president, in making the presentation, said the Menasha society had a "fantastic list of activities for the year."

Mrs. John Wilterding, Menasha president, accepted the trophy and credited William Scherck, state society field supervisor, with encouraging her society.

Special Awards

Two special certificates of merit also were presented. One went to Mrs. Isabel Ebert of the Northland Historical society, of Oneida county, and Mrs. Edna Steele, of the Walworth county society.

Some 300 persons attended the day-long workshops and the dinner that served as an introduction of Dr. Leslie H. Fishel, Jr., as new director of the state society.

Mrs. Wilterding served as a member of a panel on program planning during the morning sessions. Other sessions were on local history on radio and television, preservation of artifacts and manuscripts and use of historical photographs.

Members of the societies met Dr. and Mrs. Fishel at a tea in the afternoon sponsored by the state society's woman's auxiliary.

Dinner Speakers

John Reynolds, state attorney general, Dr. Conrad A. Elvehjem, University of Wisconsin president, and Dr. Fishel spoke at the evening dinner.

Reynolds urged local societies to continue their efforts at preserving the traditions and heritages of the state. He declared freedom of the democratic way of life depends on preservation of its heritages and traditions because written guarantees are not enough without an awareness of that tradition.

He credited the "Wisconsin Idea" tradition of the use of the university by the state government on an impartial and non-partisan basis as one of the heritages that work to make the state great.

Depended on Society

Dr. Elvehjem recounted the university's dependence on the 113-year-old historical society. Early in the university's history the society's library outnumbered the university's 35,000 volumes to 4,000.

He said the society played a big part in creating the eminence of the university contending libraries are to the study of humanities as laboratories are to the study of physical sciences.

Dr. Fishel, formerly of Oberlin college and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and who received his doctorate at Harvard, outlined emphasis on four fronts as his platform for the immediate future as director.

Four Re-emphases

Recognizing the society's statutory scope as limited by the boundaries of the state, he urged work in recent history as well as history of the past, with added emphasis on analyzing a national history from the Wisconsin viewpoint.

The resources of the society, he said, must continue to be built and he urged direction toward resources in the evolution of towns and cities as a starting point. He also urged increased emphasis on use of present resources and suggested interesting Golden Age people in historical work.

The fourth re-emphasis front, Dr. Fishel said, will be strengthening of the society's acquisition of private funds.

He said the guiding light for the society should be the philosophy that history is for everyone and need not be stodgy or dull. He urged local historians to redouble their efforts at preserving data in their areas because more data is necessary for complete records.

Over 100 Attend Father-Son Fete At Winneconne

Winneconne — Over 100 persons attended the ninth annual father and son banquet at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

A turkey dinner was served by members of the Ladies Aid with Mrs. Jules Kohnke as chairman.

Toastmaster for the program was Edward Ehke and a magician's act was presented by Curt Walter, Oshkosh.

The Rev. H. A. Kahrs led grace and Lother Westphal, president of the Men's club, was in charge of program arrangements.

YOUR HEALTH

Sinus trouble is very prevalent in this part of the country. Some of the symptoms of sinus trouble are frontal headaches, pain about the orbits of the eyes, and through the nose. There seems to be a continuous drainage from the nose. The eyes are affected and water.

The lack of the ability of the body to adapt the tissues of the nose and throat and sinuses to the sudden weather changes seems to be the predisposing cause. This is due to the lack of control of these tissues through the nervous system. This can be readily proven by the fact that you can pamper the condition and remove the symptoms by changing to a drier climate or higher altitude; however, this does not remove the cause and when returning to the former climate the symptoms manifest themselves again.

Mrs. John Wilterding, President of the Menasha Historical society, accepts the Reuben Gold Thwaiter trophy from Robert B. L. Murphy, president of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, at the annual institute at Madison Saturday. The trophy is the highest award the state society bestows on a local society.

Village Library Plans Programs For Book Week

Winneconne — In observance of "National Children's Book week" next week the Winneconne library has arranged a special program for parents and teachers from 3 to 5 p.m. Tuesday at the library.

Speaking to the group will be Leonard Archer, librarian of the Oshkosh Public library, and Mrs. Mellie Anderson, county librarian.

On Wednesday all children up to junior high are invited to visit the library for a social hour and looking at new books. Mrs. Ben Bocklin, librarian, will read excerpts from "Chanticleer and the Fox," adopted from the "Canterbury Tales" by Chaucer and "The Silver Bell" by Helen D. Olds, the story of a boy and how he overcame his fears after three days of school.

New books are being received from the county library along with suggestions of books for Christmas gifts.

Rubbish Collection

Neenah — Non-burnable rubbish will be collected Wednesday in the Third, Fifth, Eighth and Tenth wards. The rubbish should be on the curb by 7 a.m.

men in 2,000 years, to look back to the sources, back to the Scriptures, back to a period of living vitality out of which the Scriptures grew when Christ walked among men, he urged.

"There is a peril in not having a sense of history, to believe the church has moved only in one life's span. One might miss the whole point without a perspective of history. A sense of history helps in not confusing passing fads with the church. Christ crucified and risen again is the grounds of our faith."

Power of the Bible
The Bible he said had the power to shake the foundations of a whole society. "Release of the Bible in the vernacular languages revolutionized all of Europe and changed countless lives."

Self-Surrender
The third need, the speaker continued, was not mere intellectual assents nor second hand traditions but a first hand self-surrender. "Protestantism is possible only on that basis. Only for the man who obeys God is the Protestant tradition at hand."

He pointed to Christ's setting up service to others as a requirement, not just being able to repeat theology, and of the Bible pointing out a person cannot love God and hate his brother.

Dr. McKay called upon Protestants to develop a burning sense of missions, pointing out more money is spent on dog food in this country than is given to missions of all the denominations and that there are six taverns to every school.

Men with a burning sense of mission and a profound personal faith have made the world come alive for God's purpose," the seminary president stressed. Who would have thought that a small group of disciples and later a group made up of 90 per cent slaves could have overturned an empire and made Christianity recognized?" he asked.

Physicians to Meet

Oshkosh — A talk on "Jaudice of the Newborn" will be given by Dr. Kenneth Winter C. Marquette university to the Winnebago County Medical society at its dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Athearn hotel here.

Falls Asleep at Wheel, Fined $15

Neenah — A $15 and costs fine was imposed on Charles J. Frost, Jr., 20, 220 Center street, after he pleaded guilty of inattentive driving when arraigned Saturday before Police Justice E. P. Arpin.

He was arrested after his car struck the rear of a parked car owned by Lloyd C. Buhler, Oshkosh, on Main street at 3:54 p.m. Thursday. Buhler said he had worked until 7 a.m. and then went pheasant hunting. He fell asleep and struck the parked car, he said.

Teams Section Meeting Set

Campaign Workers To be Briefed on Hospital Fund Drive

Neenah — The nearly 200 men and women comprising the teams section of the Theodora Memorial hospital building fund campaign will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Valley Inn for an information and work session. General solicitation for funds will start next week.

The session is to provide practical information for team members about their specific roles in the campaign. Following the informative discussion, members of the teams will select the names of the prospective contributors on whom they will call.

The teams section, headed by George E. Elwers and Mrs. Chester D. Shepard, includes two divisions of men's teams and three divisions of women's teams. Each division has six teams and each team is composed of a captain and five team members.

The area-wide fund-raising campaign has as its objective the raising of a minimum fund of $3,850,000 to expand and modernize the hospital and to increase the number of patient beds to 244 with further provision for an additional 68 beds when they are needed.

Bears Clinch Tough Grid League Title

Tip Packers 6-0 Boosting List to 4-0; Four List 2-2

Menasha — The Bears clinched the championship in the Menasha Fifth and sixth grade touch football league by edging the Packers 6-0 Saturday morning.

The winners have a 4-0 record with one game left. Every other team has at least two setbacks.

Trailing the Bears in the standings are the Lions, Colts and Packers, all with 2-2 marks, and the 49ers and Giants with 1-3.

Wayne Beattie scored the Bears' touchdown on a 5-yard run in the win over the Packers.

Bill Matowitz tallied on a 45-yard punt return and 40-yard interception in the Colts' victory over the Giants and Menasha Halfback Bill Gerhard (5) squirms into the end zone with the Bluejays' touchdown with less than three minutes gone in Saturday's Jay-Rocket game. Menasha's Bill Prange (39) attempts to put a block on Phil Dennis (27) at the far right while other Rocket players are Mike Lintner (32), Dave Hirsch (52), Bill Braun (51), Pete Miller (30) and Alex Miller (61). Menasha's No. 54 is Pete Lavalie and Paul Beachkofski is at the right. Neenah rallied from a 7-0 deficit for a 35-7 win.

Who's Making the Tackle? Neenah's Dick Wilson (45) appears to have been spilled by a teammate while going through a big hole in Saturday's Neenah-Menasha game. Quarterback Jack Ankerson (37) is at the right while Menasha players on the scene are Bob Stumpf (10), Bill Ritchie (36) and Bill Stuck (60). Wilson gained 183 yards and scored three touchdowns in Neenah's 35-7 win.

Rockets Conquer Jay Gridders 35-7

Wilson Plows for 183 Yards; Scores 3 Times; Hosts Hold 9-7 Advantage at Halftime

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Neenah — Underdog Menasha gave Neenah all it could handle for the first two periods but in the end the Rockets had too many guns and emerged with a 35-7 win on a dreary Saturday afternoon.

In gaining the win, which kept them tied with Clintonville for the Mid-Eastern conference lead, the Rockets had to come from behind. Trailing 7-0 after a quarter, they managed a 9-7 halftime advantage and then came up with a 4-touchdown barrage in the second half, scoring the first three times they had the ball and on the last play of the game.

To the roster of many stars who have distinguished themselves in previous Twin City classics goes the name of Dick Wilson, Neenah fullback. The senior piler, who missed most of last year and has been handicapped this year by shoulder ailments, plowed for 183 yards, probably a game and team record.

Ritchie

He carried the ball on 19 of the 25 plays that Neenah had the ball when he was in game in the second half. In all, he was given it 34 times. He lost yardage once in the first half, was held for no gain another time, but ate up yards every other time, his longest run being for 31 yards.

Jays Weakened
Most of the fullback's yardage went through the Men-asha middle, weakened when Center Tom Leopold went out early in the first quarter and Steve Bachhuber left in the second period, both with slight concussions.

The Jays got a good effort from their fullback Bill Ritchie, who enjoyed his best day of the fall. He gained 59 yards and was involved in the game's most spectacular play but it didn't count. Running from punt formation in the second period, he went 58 yards for an apparent score which was called back when the Jays were detected holding. The TD would have given Menasha at least a 13-6 lead.

The visitors lost another score in the last period, connecting on a pass play but there was an obvious offside.

275 Yards Rushing
Neenah, with Wilson getting help from Fahrenkrug, George Goetz and several other runners, gained a big 275 yards rushing while Menasha made 148, one of its best totals of the year. Both clubs clicked for 95 yards passing.

Menasha had eight completions to six but Neenah came up with a better average.

Although the field was sticky and it drizzled most of the second half, there were only three fumbles, each club losing the ball once.

The Jays were on the scoreboard with just 2:05 gone in the opening period. Neenah sophomore, halfback Winn Zimmerman brought the opening kickoff to his 32 where he fumbled and Dan Rau of the Jays recovered.

Gerhard Scores
Ritchie and Bob Stumpf carried to the 17. The junior fullback went to the six in two plays and on first down Bill Gerhard went around his left end to score. His kick made it 7-0.

After a series of punts, a Menasha pass interception and Neenah's recovery of a fumble, the Rockets launched their first TD drive.

Taking over on the 48 to start the second period, Wilson made 14 yards on three carries. Jack Ankerson passed to Pete Miller to the 24 and on the next play, Ankerson floated a high pass to Zimmerman, who was to score behind the Menasha defender, and the speedy sophomore scored easily. Mitch Miller's kick was wide.

After taking the ball from the 18 to the 42, Ritchie went all the way from kick formation but after the penalty the Jays were back on their 29 and had to punt, kicking to the 50.

Boots Field Goal
Eleven plays later with 3:12 left in the half, Miller kicked a 15-yard field goal (25 yards in all because of the 10-yard end zone) for a 9-7 lead. With three seconds left, Gerhard tried a 3-pointer from the 20, but it fell harmlessly to earth in the end zone.

The Rockets weren't to be denied in the third period and, after forcing the losers to kick, took over on their 46. With Wilson carrying on eight of 10 plays, they scored, the former going over from the five. Miller's kick made it 16-7.

Wilson Scores Again
Menasha made a first down then Ritchie tried another run from punt formation but the Rockets were ready and he was smeared on the 36. Nine plays later, Wilson carrying seven times, they scored. The fullback tallied from the two and Miller's kick made it 23-6.

Neenah took over on the first play of the last period and drove 57 yards in five plays. Wilson carried on four of them and went over from the two for his third TD. Miller's kick was wide for a 29-6 score with 10:40 left.

A Menasha march was halted on Neenah's 28 and the Rockets advanced the ball to the Jay nine from where Miller's second field goal try was blocked.

Menasha made nine yards in three plays but the Rockets blocked Bob Opsahl's punt recovering on the 10 with three seconds left. Fahrenkrug passed to Forest Hyde on the last play of the game for the score and Miller's kick was wide.

Wilson's 183 Yards Tops Rushers In Recent Games of Long Rivalry

Neenah — The 183 yards rolled up by Dick Wilson in Saturday's 35-7 win by Neenah over Menasha probably was a record for the series or at least a standard for the recent phase of the rivalry.

Previous high totals included 162 by Tom Wiesner in 1954 and his 132 in 1955, 157 by Bert Sylvander of the Rockets in the 1956 game and 134 by Menasha's Fritz Heiss in 1951.

While the Rockets gained a healthy 275 yards on the ground, previous teams have done better although their total net yards of 370 by rushing and passing is among the best. The 1952 Neenah team made 301 by running in winning 14-0 and the Jays garnered 341 the same way in an 18-6 win in 1931.

Mitch Miller's second quarter field goal was Neenah's first since Don Miller kicked a couple against Kimberly in the 1955 season. It was the first in the series since Menasha's Bill Volkman's historic winning kick in 1953.

Miller missed on a second attempt late in the game and through a player mixup on the play before the kick he was forced to lineup at right halfback.

Because of an injury to center Tom Leopold early in the game, Coach Carl Steffin had to do some juggling in his lineup. Defensive tackle Keith Bednarowski snapped the ball on offense except on punts and the field goal attempt.

The dreary afternoon was brightened, not only by the cracking of leather on the field, but by sparkling between-half performances by both bands.

Menasha's first period touchdown was its first after being blanked the final three frames by Clintonville and in all four by Kaukauna. The Jay tally snapped a string of eight scoreless periods racked up by the Rockets. Clintonville tallied in the final quarter three weeks ago and both Two Rivers and New London were shut out.

Menasha closes its season at 4 p.m. Wednesday at New London while the Rockets meet Shawano here next Saturday afternoon.

BY ART DALEY

Post-Crescent News Service
New York — The Packers had enough defense to win most games but they had no offense in Yankee Stadium Sunday afternoon.

The Giants blitzed and overran the Bay scoring machine to make off with a bitterly-contested 20 to 3 victory before the largest crowd ever to see Green Bay play the Giants here, 67,831.

It was Green Bay's third straight loss, setting the record at 3-3, while the Giants won their fourth in a row for a 5-1 reading at the top of the Eastern division.

Doing It in Threes
The Packers, apparently doing things in threes, now hope to start another trio of three straight wins against the Bears in Chicago Sunday.

The failure of the Packers' offense was a bitter blow to Coach Vince Lombardi, the former Giant offense mentor, who was coming home for the first time. But it wasn't all New York defense.

Starting quarterback Lamar McHan came up with a stiff shoulder, the result of an injury in the Baltimore game, and couldn't throw with any degree of accuracy.

This ruined the smoothness of the attack the Packers had been receiving and expecting from McHan.

Joe Francis relieved McHan in the second quarter and moved the Packers deep into Giant territory twice, the first of which was converted into Paul Hornung's 28-yard field goal and a 7-3 score.

No Breaks
The second time, a few seconds before the half, revealed some of the Packers' bad luck—they really didn't get any breaks this day. Hornung's boot from 15 yards out hit the right upright and bounced back onto the playing field.

Those were the only two times the Packers got into Giant territory until the last minute when Jim Temp intercepted Don Heinrich's batted-up pass behind the line of scrimmage on the Giants' 20. He ran it to the eight but on the first play Jim Taylor fumbled and Sam Huff recovered on the five.

Webster Gets Both
Actually, the Packers defended the Giants down to one touchdown, the second, and that was set up by a costly interference penalty. Both

Coe Clinches Share of MC Football Title

Lawrence and Ripon turned in Midwest conference football victories Saturday while Beloit fell before mighty Coe 24-8.

Lawrence trimmed Carleton, 14-6, and Ripon defeated Knox 21-7.

In other games, St. Olaf downed Monmouth, 27-14, and Cornell continued in second place with a 26-12 triumph over Grinnell.

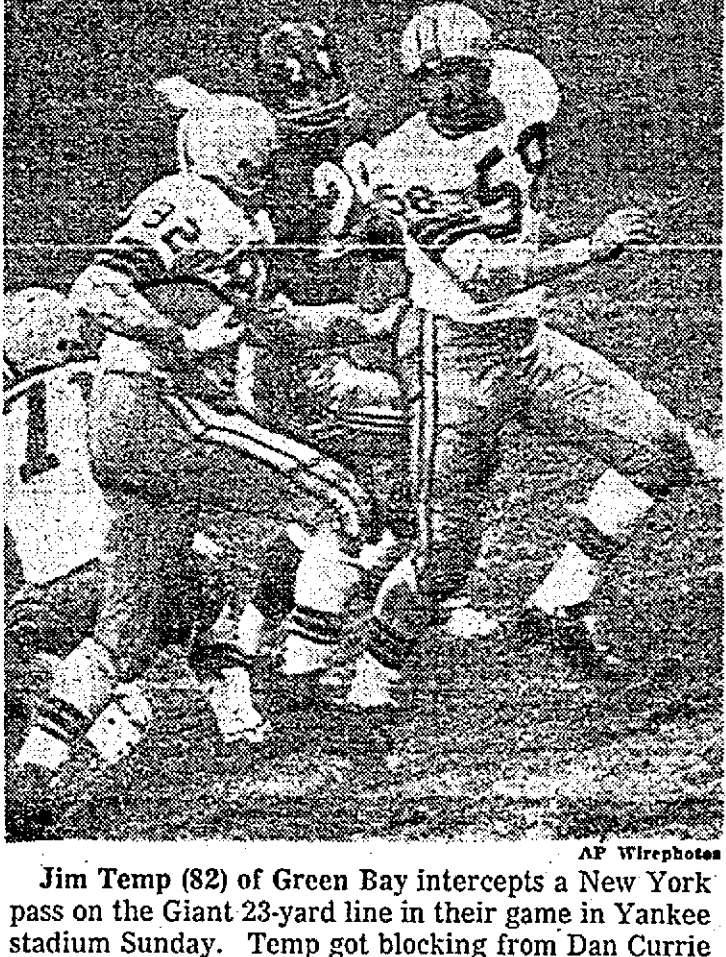

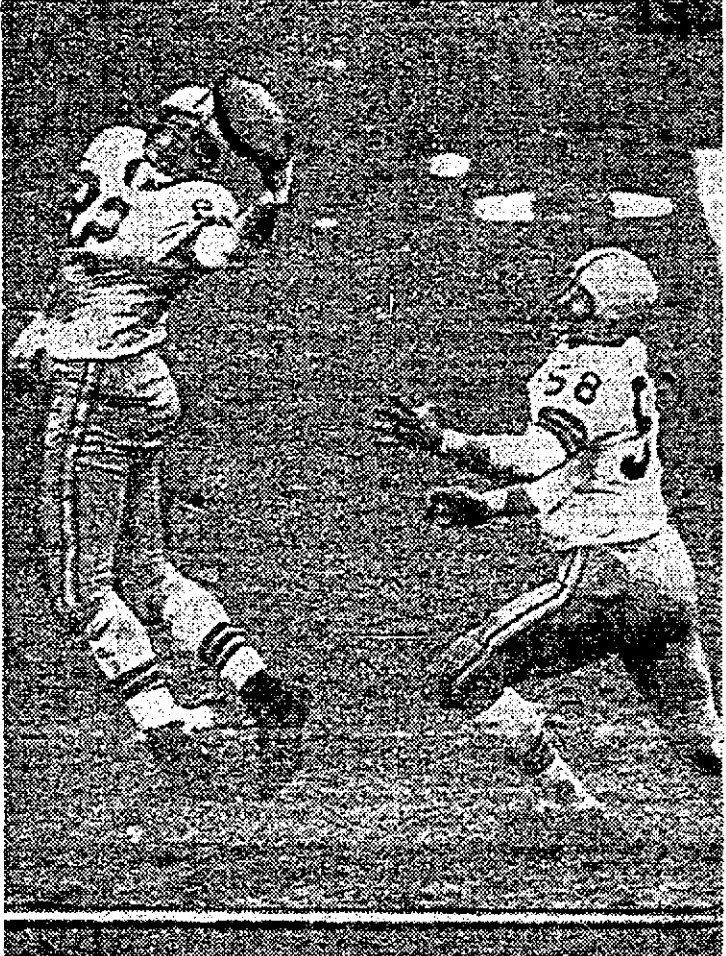

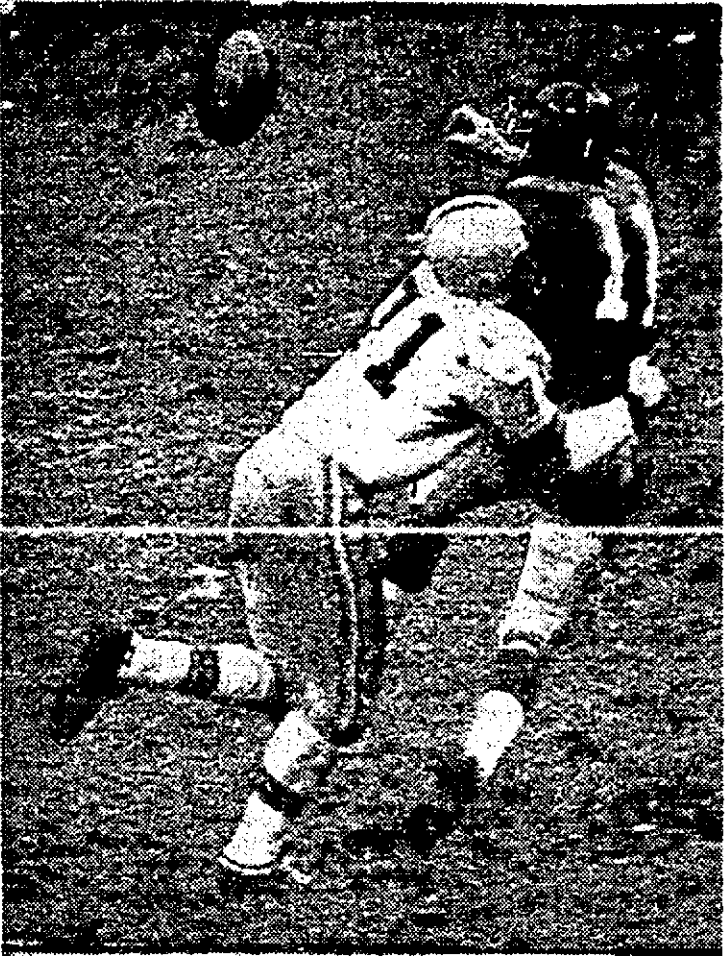

Coe's victory, its seventh in as many starts, guaranteed the Kohawks at least a tie for the title. Beloit counted in the final seconds when Dick Van Scotter ran 38 yards.

Watson Tallies Twice
Coe's Justin Watson scored twice in the opening period, on a 3-yard rush and on a 68-yard pass play. Bart Thiele gave Coe its other tally when he went over from the two following recovery of a Beloit fumble.

Dick Celichowski paced Ripon with two touchdowns on a 59-yard run and a 1-yard plunge. George Sievers scored on a 34-yard pass from Jim Cowley. Knox got six points on Todd Allen's plunge after a 99-yard march.

Lions' Wilson, Anderson Feel 49ers Can Go All the Way

San Francisco — Who's going to stop the San Francisco 49ers, surprising front-runners in the National Football league's Western division?

Detroit management, after the Lions took a 33-7 whipping Sunday, aren't figuring on anyone halting the 49ers, at the top with a 5-1 mark.

Forty-Niner Coach "Red" Hickey concurs.

"The 49ers are good," said Lion Coach George Wilson. "They've got the feeling they can win. They're going to be hard to beat."

Edwin Anderson, president of the Detroit club, added in congratulating Hickey: "You have a real good foot-

49ers Breeze Over Detroit, 33-7, For Solo Lead

By The Associated Press
Jimmy Brown exploded, jarring Baltimore's world champion Colts out of the Western conference lead and making Cleveland a contender again in the East as the National Football league races hit the halfway mark.

The 6-2, 228-pound bulldozer mixed speed with power for five touchdowns Sunday, triggering the near-record performance with the longest gain of his pro career — a 70-yard rumble with a pitchout that got Cleveland rolling on a 33-31 victory over the Colts at Baltimore.

The Browns' feared full-back fell one short of tying the NFL record, but is only the third player to score five TDs in a single game. He is the first to do it in eight years.

With Cleveland backing Brown's break-through with a defense that was tough when needed, San Francisco's surprising 49ers leap-frogged the Colts into the Western lead with a 33-7 breeze over Detroit. That gave the 49ers, pre-season picks for the second division, a 5-1 record to Baltimore's 4-2.

3rd Straight
Cleveland's third straight success left the Browns in a second place tie with Philadelphia in the East behind the New York Giants. The Giants (5-1) retained their 1-game edge by smacking Green Bay, 20-3. Philadelphia worked a 30-23 job on Washington.

The other games went to the two Chicago teams, with the Cardinals walloping Pittsburgh, 45-24, and the Bears beating Los Angeles, 26-21.

Brown, who has led the NFL in rushing for each of his two campaigns, setting a record with a 1,527 net last season, upped his 6-game 1959 total to 737 yards — a 123-yard average.

He carried 32 times and moved 178 yards. His other

AHS Scores Twice in Last 5 Minutes

BY MIKE DREW

Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Appleton High's football Terrors were right in the Halloween spirit Saturday.

They "treated" rank underdog Fond du Lac to a 7-0 lead going into the final five minutes and then played a dirty "trick" on the upset-minded Cardinals. A pair of last-minute touchdowns brought AHS a sensational 13-7 win.

It was the first Appleton High varsity game ever at the city's venerable pro baseball grounds and a more exciting christening couldn't have been written.

Field Is Wet
The winners remained a half-game behind first place Green Bay West in the Fox River Valley conference title race but time is running out on them. The season concludes next Saturday with Appleton at Manitowoc and West meeting East.

Played on a wet field before a crowd of about 1,000, Saturday's wide-open contest was a spectator's dream and a coach's nightmare. The ball changed hands a total of six times on fumbles and pass interceptions.

Together, the two clubs tossed the professional-like total of 40 passes, completing 28 (an amazing 65 per cent) for 286 yards.

Appleton's John Taylor, a second-stringer until John Nusbaum was hurt two weeks ago, pitched brilliantly. He found his target on 12 of 18 tosses for 158 yards and one touchdown.

Carl Harriers Win, 26-31, Over Vikings

The Carleton college cross-country team defeated Lawrence, 26 to 31, Saturday, to snap a 4-meet Viking victory string. The meet was held at the Reid Municipal Golf course.

Lawrence's Tad Pinkerton won the event in 15 minutes, 21 seconds. Carleton's "Chuck" Jennings was second in 15:50 and Lawrence's Bill Scout was third in 15:53.

The victory was the Knights' eighth in a row. Pinkerton was placing first for the sixth time in six meets. Lawrence is now 2-4 on the season. The summary:

MU '11' Prepares for North Dakota State After Losing, 18 to 12

Cowboys Win in Final 46 Seconds To Extend Warrior Skein to 11

BY DAVE O'HARA
Milwaukee —Hapless Marquette looked over moves of another heart-breaking performance today before launching practice for a football engagement with North Dakota State Saturday in hopes of snapping a 11-game losing streak.

The Warriors suffered their seventh consecutive loss of the season — and eleventh dating back to the 1958 campaign — in losing a tough 18-12 decision to Oklahoma State Saturday before a homecoming day crowd of 15,300. Marquette, with quarterback Pete Hall in top form, tied the Cowboys for the Sooner State midway through the final quarter and then was overrun by an 88-yard march in 22 plays, climaxed by a touchdown with 46 seconds left.

Couple of Breaks
The Warriors appeared destined for at least a draw against the 2-touchdown favorites from Oklahoma. However, they were unable to contain the slashing tactics of the Cowboy machine, also helped by a couple of breaks.

Oklahoma State went the

Sword Dancer Looms as 'Horse of Year'

New York —Sword Dancer, heading for a two-month vacation, today presented an imposing list of credentials to back his candidacy for two of racing's most important titles.

The little chestnut son of Sunlong from Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade stable virtually wrapped up "horse of the year" honors Saturday when he defeated Round Table, defending titleholder, by seven lengths in the $110,000 Jockey club Gold Cup at Aqueduct. He is the leading candidate for the 3-year-old championship.

With Arcaro in the saddle for his eighth Gold Cup triumph, Sword Dancer was clocked in 3:22 1-5. The time was just a second and four-fifths off the American and stake record hung up by Nashua as a 4-year old in 1956.

distance despite a 15-yard penalty for an illegal substitution, coming on the heels of a 9-yard loss on an attempted pass maneuver.

But it took a tricky bounce of the ball to set up the touchdown for the Cowboys.

A pass from quarterback Dick Soergel looked like a sure bet for an interception by Marquette's Jim Webster. However, the senior backfield ace managed only to tip the ball in his all-out effort and Jim Dillard of OSU was able to haul in the aerial while falling on the Marquette seven.

Given that advantage, OSU called upon left halfback Tony Banfield for three straight cracks at the right side of his line. Banfield made paydirt by diving over right tackle from two yards out for the deciding points.

Goes 41 Yards
Oklahoma State jumped in to the lead in the first period by moving 41 yards on 12 plays.

Marquette, however, bounced back on the passing of Hall to tie the count in the second period. The touchdown came on a 35-yard pass play between Hall and end George Andrie.

OSU's Cowboys moved in front again in the third period as Banfield, a workhorse in the visitor's backfield, cracked right tackle from two yards out.

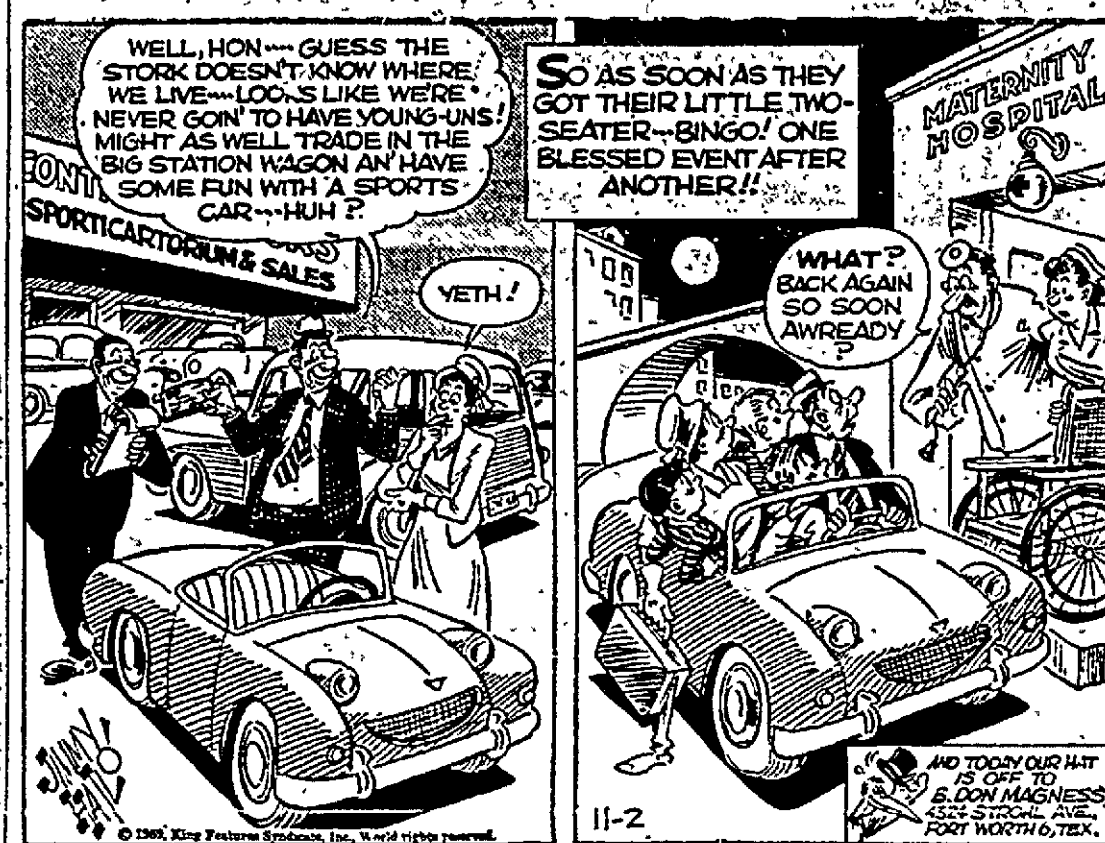

Marquette, stopped one yard from the end zone on a long drive, came back with Hall hitting Larry Hubbard at the goal from 11 yards out to tie the score.

Then came the drive by the Cowboys, who chalked up their fifth straight triumph after losing their first two games to Cincinnati and Arkansas.

Marquette, big but slow afoot, managed only 82 yards on the ground while giving up 242 to the speedier Oklahoma backs. However, the Warriors stayed in contention on the efforts of Hall, one of the nation's top passers who clicked on 14 of 26 attempts for 210 yards.

They'll Do It Every Time

Lawrence '11' Upends Strong Carls, 14-6

big one because it got Coach Bernie Heselson's Vikes over the hump. Regardless of what happens at St. Olaf Saturday, they're guaranteed the first Lawrence season as high as .500 since 1956.

Iron-Hand Rule
Despite the length of the odds that will favor the potent Oles at Northfield, few saw the Carleton game Saturday will sell the fourth-place Vikes very short. A win or a tie in the road finale would give Lawrence its best season since 1954 (6-2).

Lawrence ruled Saturday's first half with an iron hand. The visitors—bidding for their fourth straight win over the Vikes since '55—were fortunate they weren't trailing by more than 14-0 when they took their between-halves pause.

The Vikes wrapped up all their scoring in a 5-minute, second-quarter bundle. A 20-yard pass-and-run maneuver, culminated a 6-play, 59-yard drive.

The other touchdown came on a 13-yard power sweep by Mike Ullwelling — the sixth play, of a 30-yard advance. Schulze place-kicked both extra points.

Three other times, the Vikes penetrated deeper than Carleton in the first half. Lawrence reached the Knight 19, the 31 and the 28 in unsuccessful thrusts. The best Carleton could do in the first half was to reach the Lawrence 38.

Lawrence controlled the ball for 45 plays in the first half, to only 23 for Carleton, and registered a total yardage edge of 184 to 67.

The only pre-intermission first downs for Carleton came via a penalty on the third play of the game and on a pass three plays before the half.

Penalties proved the Vikes' biggest bugaboo. They were slapped four with four of them for 30 yards in the first quarter alone and 10 for 80 yards in the game.

43-Yard Pass
Lawrence continued to dominate the game until the last play of the third quarter when a Steve Dickinson-to-Bacon pass clicked for 43 yards to the Vike 27. That triggered a Carleton aerial bombardment which produced five more "strikes" in the fourth quarter, set up the Carl touchdown and threatened for a time to tie the game.

Dickinson scored from one yard out with 7:26 left in the game after a 70-yard march. On a 2-point conversion try, Dickinson passed to John Lundsten but he was cracked out of bounds before he could cross the goal line.

Lawrence's deepest second-half advance was to the Carleton 32.

The win was a marvelous team effort for the Vikes, but there were individual heroes, too.

The offensive-defensive accolade would have to go to Gary Scovel, who ended his home career with perhaps his finest game. As a workhorse of the Vike running attack, Scovel drove, churned and bailed his way over the stillmuddy and slippery turf to 100 yards in 24 carries. It was the best rushing total of his home collegiate career, and it's exceeded only by his 146 yards at Knox in 1958.

Defensively the former Winnebago prep flash was just as big a thorn to the Knights. After making a number of vital stops, including a fourth-down, behind-the-line tackle that stalled a Carleton drive, Scovel saved his best for the last.

With less than five minutes to go, Bacon slipped behind the Vike secondary and took a Dickinson pass from the Carleton 21. Bacon had already made a 34-yard profit when Scovel grounded him from behind on the Vike 45. If Gary had missed Bacon, it would have been "Katy, bar the door."

Lamers Ullwelling

There were other defensive titans for the Vikes, who doled out only 98 rushing yards in the 60 minutes. Bill Whitmore made stops all over the place and recovered a fumble that set up the second touchdown on the Carleton 30.

Doug Millard and Charlie Scruggs also made vital fumble recoveries. Pete Thomas, Bob Smith, Lamers and John Dunning all tackled viciously and often. (In fact, the play became so rough-and-tumble that some of the intense feelings spilled over into extra-curricular swinging after the final whistle.)

Runaway Express
The other three regular backs — all juniors — came through with offensive performances that all but matched Scovel's. Ullwelling, for example, resembled a runaway express in his first chance as a frequent ball toter. The free-wheeling Appletonian ran around and over tacklers for an approximate 7.5 yard average for each of seven carries.

Lawrence's ability to hang onto the ball was one of its biggest assets (no fumbles lost compared to four for Carleton) and Bob Landis figured heavily in this. As a quarterback, he was a sure, artful ball handler, and in addition, he rammed for two vital first downs on keepers.

Last but far from least there was Scovel. He kept the Carleton defense guessing with his running and passing. Though a couple of losses reduced his net rushing yardage to 29, Schulze again displayed his inimitable knacks of dodging and slipping away from tacklers. He also ran a punt back brilliantly for 24 yards. Schulze missed the final two minutes with a leg injury — apparently minor.

Dickinson, only a sophomore, proved Carleton's only major rushing threat. He gained 72 yards in 26 tries—reeling off several good gains after faking a pass.

Screen Pass Clicks
Keying Lawrence's first touchdown drive was a slick-ly-executed screen pass, Landis to Scovel, that moved the ball from the Vike 47 to the Knight 9. However, a 15 yard penalty at the tag-end of the play shoved the Vikes back to the 24.

After a 4-yard Scovel gain and an incomplete pass, Schulze (as the quarterback on this series) faded back and pitched a bullet-like strike to Lamers. The Kaukauna wingman grabbed it in full stride on the 10 and outraced defenders into the end zone.

Six running play too it in again 4:05 later after Whitmore had recovered a Tom Beach bobble on the Knight 30. From the 13, Unwelling sped wide around the Carleton right flank and steamed home.

Carleton's aeriels kept the issue in doubt to the final minutes. After Scovel's tackle stopped Bacon's bid for a TD on the Vike 45, Lawrence drew a penalty on the next play—putting Carleton only 33 yards away from the potential tying touchdown. Two ground plays netted five yards, before the Carls went upstairs again. The Vikes tightened, however, when the had to, knocking down a Dickinson pass and a Tom Kelly pass—both from the 28.

The Vikes kept possession for the final 2:50, chalking up two first downs.

The winners began the march to the tying TD just after the start of the fourth quarter. During the drive fullback Cal Kluss once carried four consecutive times for 4, 4, 8 and 5 yards and wound up with 29 in seven carries on the march.

After Fondy held at the 20 for one play, Taylor niftily picked out junior end Wayne Polzin in the corner of the end zone. Dick Wankey's kick was partially blocked but it inched over for a 7-7 tie with only about 4 1/2 minutes left.

The Joe Capick-coached visitors, victorious only once this season, stalled after taking the kickoff and were forced to punt. The Terrors took over on their own 30 but re-

Mitchell 3rd In State Harrier Test

Four Fox Cities-area schools finished in the top 10 places in the state high school cross country meet—small school division — at Hartford Saturday.

Weyauwega placed fourth with 154 points. New London was fifth with 164, Seymour was eighth with 252 and Clintonville tenth with 269. Individually, in the small school category, Kimberly's Joe Mitchell was third and New London's Tom Laux fifth.

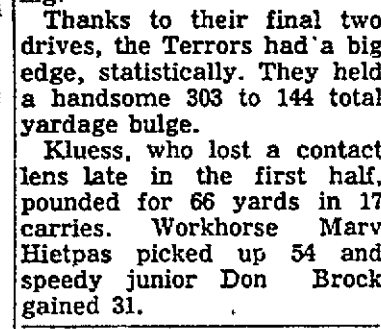

In the medium-size school division, Kaukauna played eleventh with 237 points. The Ghosts' Jerry Jakl was ninth and Kaukauna's Merle Hammond was tenth.

Milwaukee Bay View won the big school crown while Monona Grove copped the medium school title and Amherst small school honors. Bob Meehan of Bay View turned in the fastest time, running the 2.2 mile course in 10 minutes, 59.6 seconds.

Madison—You can take the word of Coach Milt Bruhn that Wisconsin's offense is due for considerable attention as the Badgers eye their key Big Ten football game with unbeaten Northwestern Saturday.

The cause for concern is the fact that the second-place Badgers could keep an attack going for only about 20 minutes Saturday in taking a 19-verines. They've given other teams a hard time.

Although outweighted 20 pounds to the man and trailing by 13 points at the half, Michigan stayed in willing contention with three teams of inexperienced but ambitious players.

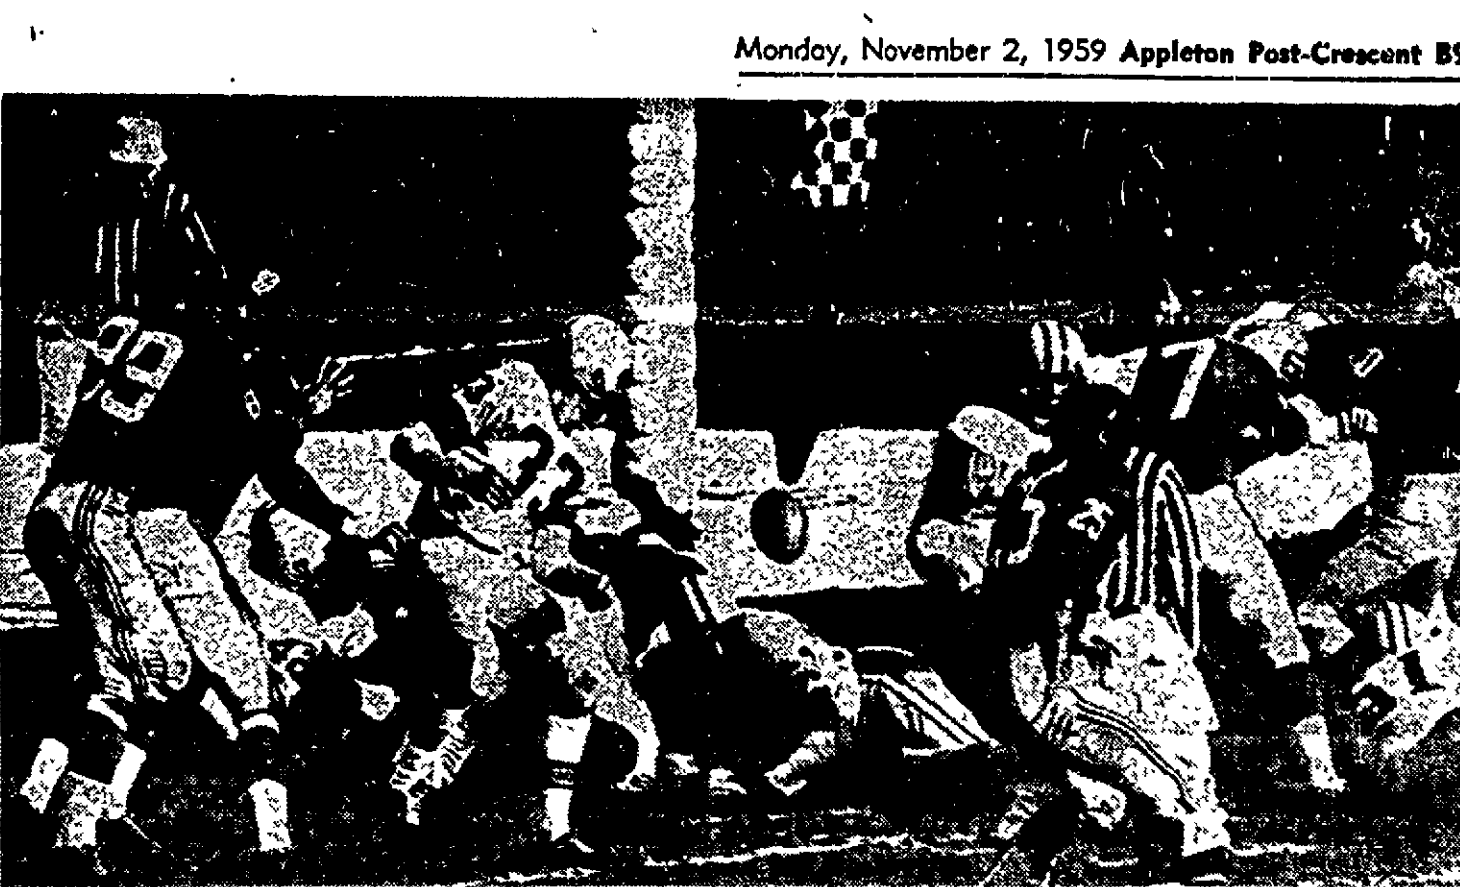

"When that third team came barreling in and poured it to us in the second half, I think it hurt us psychologically," Bruhn explained. "Our kids couldn't believe a third team could do that."

Kicks Field Goal
Interceptions killed off nearly every Michigan scoring threat but the issue wasn't settled until Karl Holzwarth booted a field goal in the final 20 seconds.

On the second play from scrimmage Michigan recovered a Badger fumble on the Wisconsin 23 and Darrell Harper kicked a field goal.

The Badgers roared back after an exchange of pass interceptions and Tom Wiesner made the final five yards. Dale Hackbart ran for the extra two points.

Bob Zeman stole a pass in the second period and the Badgers scored again in eight plays as Hackbart booted over from the 1-yard line. That was the last time Wisconsin camp-

Somehow, with all the ball passing behind the line, power driving Gerald Harp ended up with the pigskin three-fourths of the time. He was a brilliant runner all afternoon accounting for better than 140 yards himself.

Move to 19
After both teams failed to get going in the first period, Central got a march under way in the second stanza. With Harp leading the way, the Cavaliers moved to the St. John 19. Here the Chuter defense, with Dennis Mahn and Dave Simon leading the way, pushed Central back to the 38 where they lost the ball on downs.

Mike Bongers, quarterbacked the Chuters from that point to the game's first score. Ed Hammen and Tom Verhagen did most of the ball carrying as St. John moved to the Marinette 19. Bongers then faked a handoff to Hammen and tossed an aerial to Verhagen who took it on the 10 and waltzed into the end zone. Hammen booted the extra point.

First-Down Fumble
Marinette roared back as Harp took the kickoff on his own 22 and returned it to the St. John 39. He then powered through the middle of the line to the 20. After a pass failed Harp bulldozed his way to the 13. On the last play of the half Tim DeGroot managed to bat down a Cavalier screen pass which had Harp on the side with a wave of blockers

Giants Halt Packers' Offense in 20-3 Win

Giants TD's were scored by Alex Webster.

In the first quarter Don McIlhenny fumbled on the Packers' 3-yard line — the ball being put there by a 55-yard punt by Don Chandler — and Ed Modzelewski recovered. Webster powered over for 7-0 on the first play.

The other TD came on a 67-yard drive at the start of the second half. With first down on the Packers 24, Bob Freeman interfered with Webster and the Giants had first down on the 7. Webster poured over from there.

The other Giant points came on two 49-yard field goals by Pat Summerall — both tremendous boots. The first made it 10-3 just before the half. The second made it 20-3 late in the third quarter.

The Packers were defended down to two first downs in the second half — on a McHan pass to Boyd Dowler for 14 and a Francis pass to Dowler for 7 and Taylor's 12-yard run. Jim was making his first run on the foot he burned in a home accident Oct. 5.

Won in Statistics
The Giants won the statistics too, 15 first downs to 9, 79 ground yards to 69 and 144 air yards to 112.

Max McGee had to punt 10 times, showing the toughness of the Giant defense.

The second half was a series of heartbreaks for Marinette. After the opening kickoff Marinette drove to the Chuter 14 only to fumble on first down.

On the next series Central drove to the 3-yard line only to gain no ground through the line on four plays. Finally with time running out in the final period Bob Pecotte took a 34-yard aerial that put Marinette in scoring position on the Chuter 23. Harp carried three times to put it on the 7. On the next play he went into the end zone, fumbled and the ball was recovered by Jim Kopish for the touchdown. Harp ran the extra point over to tie the game.

Jim Brown's 5 Touchdowns Whip Colts

TDs came on a 17-yard run and three plunges.

Ernie Nevers set the 1-game record of six touchdowns with the Cardinals against the Bears 30 years ago, and Cleveland's Bill Jones matched it, also against the Bears, in 1951.

For all Brown's brilliance, Cleveland had its hands full containing Johnny Unitas, who passed for all four Colt TDs. That gave him 17 scoring passes for the season and stretched his consecutive game record to 31.

The 49ers also won their third in a row, ripping the Lions after a 73-yard scoring run by halfback J. D. Smith on the second play. It was Smith's seventh TD of the season, one less than co-leaders Brown and Philadelphia's Tommy McDonald. Hugh McElhenny, after nursing a broken hand for a month, returned to full-time duty and hauled in a pair of scoring passes from Y. A. Tittle, one on a 62-yard play.

The Eagles kept the pace with some stout defense after scoring all their points in the first half, McDonald snaring one of Norm Van Brocklin's two TD passes.

The Bears beat the Rams with 19 points in the third quarter, scoring twice within two minutes on a blocked punt and a fumble.

Rookies Bill Stacey and Ken Hall put it away for the Cardinals with a pair of long punt returns in a 21-point second period against the Steelers.

Cannon's Run Brings LSU 7-3 Victory

Sooners' 34-Game Big Eight Victory Streak Is Broken

By The Associated Press
It's been a bundle of Mondays since any Eastern college team excluding the service academies had any notions about a national football championship.

But Syracuse and Penn State have 'em today, especially the former, and the hunch is it'll take a strong man to talk down the winner—even granting the obvious claims of Louisiana State, Northwestern and Texas—after these two unbeaten tangle next Saturday.

The big game at University Park, Pa., is the second in a row matching two sectional titans—coming on the heels of defending national champ LSU's 7-3 squeaker over third-ranked Mississippi last Saturday night.

Straight Wins
This one tries Syracuse, No. 5 nationally in the last Associated Press weekly poll, and winner of six straight, against Penn State, with a No. 7 national ledger and seven consecutive victories.

Meanwhile, LSU tries to run its winning streak to 20 at tough Tennessee, Northwestern (No. 2) is home to tenth-ranked, once-beaten Wisconsin in the Big Ten showdown, and Texas, ranked fourth, entertains Baylor in another step toward the Southwest conference title and the Cotton bowl.

"Now we find out if we're a football team," said Syracuse coach Ben Schwartzwalder after the Orange had crushed Pitt, 35-0, Saturday. A crowd of 67,000 roared as All-America Billy Cannon's 89-yard scoring punt beat Ole Miss after LSU had been outplayed and outgained.

With 10 minutes left in the game, Mississippi quarterback Jake Gibbs soared a punt deep into LSU territory. Cannon took the ball on the LSU 11.

He cut toward the sidelines, shook off one tackler at the 10, wiggled free of two others at the 15, but almost lost his balance when a fourth Rebel whacked him. But at the 25 he was running in full cry and at midfield he was alone, save for a quickly formed screen of LSU blockers trailing behind.

Nails SMU
Texas, 7-0, closed in on the SWC championship after nailing Southern Methodist, 21-0. Southern California, ranked sixth nationally and 6-0 after rallying to beat California 14-7, ordinarily would be the Western Rose bowl team but the Trojans are ineligible. So

Felauer, running side-by-side at center. Among the Cardinals are: Larry Olsen (16) Rodney Brajdic (24) and "Chuck" Bloedorn (33). Appleton won, 13-7, in the last 25 seconds.

Wildcats Stay Unbeaten, 30-13

Wisconsin's Size, Power Will be Pitted Against NU's Speed, Agility

BY JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Undefeated Northwestern the nation's No. 2 team, and once-beaten Wisconsin will try to solve the question of the Big Ten football championship this Saturday at Evanston.

The Wildcats posted their sixth straight victory with a stunning 30-13 triumph over Indiana Saturday while Wisconsin escaped from Ann Arbor with a 19-10 win over Michigan.

Purdue and Illinois had their title hopes dimmed by playing to a 7-7 tie and Ohio State eliminated Michigan State from championship consideration with a 30-24 decision.

Outside League
Outside the league, Iowa pounded Kansas State, 53-0, Minnesota dumped Vanderbilt, 20-6, Notre Dame edged Navy, 25-22.

Seldom is the Big Ten championship decided before the final week of the season but should Northwestern defeat Wisconsin the Wildcats would need but one victory in their last two games to seal the issue.

Should Wisconsin stop Northwestern, Illinois then would become a key team since the Illini face Wisconsin and Northwestern in their last two games.

Northwestern's ability to score quickly rocked Indiana after the Hoosiers had moved to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter. Northwestern tied it in the second period when Ron Burton scored after the Wildcats had recovered a fumble and a minute later Burton broke it's Washington (6-1) in the lead for the host spot at Pasadena.

the game open with a 63-yard touchdown run on a punt return.

Fullback Mike Stock then took over in the second half with touchdown runs of 28 and 24 yards and a 19-yard field goal. Stock, who played magnificently on defense, finished the day with 18 points.

Big Game
Indiana coach Phil Dickens said "Northwestern had too much speed and Mike Stock, too."

Saturday's big game will pit Wisconsin's size and power against Northwestern's speed and agility.

opportunities in the last quarter while Illinois tried to pull the game out in the final seconds on a missed field goal attempt by Gerry Wood.

Quarterback Tom Matte hurled three touchdown passes in Ohio State's victory and Iowa scored 45 points in the first half in smothering Kansas State. Third string quarterback Joe Salem picked up floundering Minnesota by directing a pair of touchdown drives in the final period.

Monte Tickle's 43-yard field goal with 32 seconds to play carried Notre Dame to victory.

ALLIS-CHALMERS has always been proud of its home towns... now with Appleton, Wisconsin, 18 of them are in the United States and 6 in other countries. The plants in these cities build a wide variety of products for many of the world's growing industries... electrical, steel, pulp and paper, cement, processing, construction, farm and nuclear power, to name just a few.

Now... Appleton is home, too, and Allis-Chalmers is proud to be a part of it. The products of the Valley Iron Works Corporation complement the equipment built in other Allis-Chalmers plants.

The Valley Iron Works Corporation facilities become the 24th plant in the world-wide Allis-Chalmers family with a 112-year-old tradition of serving the basic needs of business at home and abroad.

We look forward to many successful years working together.

TV Antennas on Tobacco Road

This is another of a series of articles from Harry Golden's latest bestseller, "For 2 Cents Plain."

There was a movie not long ago which portrayed a tumble-down ol' South. It was called Baby Doll, and, as far as life is concerned, it was a good movie. But, as far as the south is concerned, it was a scream. And the best proof of this is that the movie played all over the south without a ripple. When you are poor you do not want your early beginnings paraded before you. But when you are rich you exaggerate those struggles and speak with pride of the times you got up at 4 o'clock in the morning to milk the cows and deliver the newspaper, and the south is rich today—fabulously rich—and getting richer every minute.

There is no ol' plantation house with a baby crib. Not on your life. The south today is a churning, whirling, sprawling, brawling area of huge hotels and Du Pont and Celanese and guided missiles and the hydrogen bomb, and of three quarters of a million people lining the streets for the retail merchants' Thanksgiving day parades, and of a day-to-day industrialization without parallel in the history of our country. The chambers of commerce cannot even keep up with the advertising brochures; all they can do is advise you where you may possibly find a parking space for your car.

No Tobacco Road. But there is an interesting story behind this. Many of my fellow liberals in the north love to hang onto the "Tobacco Road" idea of the south. And the white supremacists of the south cling to the idea of Uncle Remus rolling in laughter under the magnolia tree. Well, that's all gone. There's no Tobacco Road and there's no Uncle Remus. Tobacco Road is full of TV antennas, with an electric washing machine on every back porch, and Mrs. Jeeter Lester is not begging ol' Dude to bring her a turnip. She is getting dressed up for the Tuesday Afternoon Garden club or the League of Women Voters.

Under that magnolia tree is the country club with a French chef who gets $8,000 a year; and the delicatessen stores are loaded with Presbyterian folk who are asking for "Jewish rye bread," and down in Dallas they have a Gourmet club in which they serve matzo-ball soup, chicken a la Russe, tossed green salad, and Baba au Rhum with Chablis.

The northerners who refuse to give up the Tobacco Road idea feel this legend helps emphasize the struggle to end racial segregation. But if the south were still Tobacco Road, there would be no problem about ending racial segregation at all! The Negro was satisfied with his status when he looked around and saw nothing but the poverty of the cotton-mill towns. He was satisfied to be out. Today the story all around him is, oh, so entirely different, and now he wants in. This has been the pattern of all social and economic change in history. Only when things are good do the people want them better. Only 25 years ago the Negro would tip his hat to you as you walked along the street. Well, he doesn't tip his hat today. Neither is he rolling in laughter under the magnolia tree. He doesn't have time. Today he is walking briskly along the street on his way to pick up his little girl at the dancing school; that is, if he's not arguing a new writ before a federal judge. He is not in Egypt. He is standing squarely on top of Mount Nebo—and he wants the Promised Land because it is finally within his reach.

Suggestion for Play
Now if Tennessee Williams and Eliza Kazan are serious about producing a movie about the south as it really is today, I am willing to provide them with the following outline, free of charge:

I would have Eli Wallach play the role of a manufacturer of ladies' foundation garments, slips, and brassieres, with a factory on West Thirty-sixth street and Seventh avenue. The International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union is after him to sign a new contract, and Eli decides to clear out of New York. He makes arrangements for a new factory in the magnolia-scented town of Kenilworth, S. C., where the folks are raising a half-million dollars to provide him with the new factory building.

To throw the union off the track, Eli calls his new brassiere factory "Balance Agriculture with Industry, Incorporated," but he has made one big mistake. He has recently promoted Baby Doll, his former model, to a 50 percent partnership in the business and she is now following him down to Kenilworth in her new Jaguar. And this is where old Karl Malden comes in. Karl plays David Dubinsky, who has been keeping an eye on Baby Doll all this time, and he catches up with her in Charlotte, N. C. They play hide-and-seek in an old plantation house which now houses The Carolina Israelite, and in the scuffle Dubinsky succeeds in getting Baby Doll to sign the new contract on behalf of Balance Agriculture with Industry, Incorporated.

The big scene, however, is where the mayor of Kenilworth is dedicating the new factory: "We are mighty proud of the new factory, Mr. Eli, and on behalf of all your good neighbors of Kenilworth

Various Queries on Contact Lenses Answered by Doctor

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

In years past I have known of some miserable experiences with contact lenses. I have also known cases that turned out extremely well. No doubt it depends, in part on the individual and in part on the skill of fitting the lenses.

In the last Dr. Molner, a few years there has been tremendous improvement in grinding and fitting contact lenses, which makes their use far more tolerable and practical.

Contact lenses, however, are not as simple to make as ordinary spectacles, and the cost runs about three to five times as much.

The answer, then, must depend on the question: How

I hereby hand you this certificate which makes your company rent-free, water-free, power-free, and tax-free for the first five years of your operations; and one thing more, Mr. Eli, and I'm certainly proud to be able to say this to you—all, we are a very peaceful little town here with no trouble and you can be sure of one thing—you'll never be bothered by them union fellows down here.

Just then Baby Doll rushes onto the grandstand, followed by David Dubinsky, who waves the newly signed union contract and shouts into the loud-speaker, "We start picketing tomorrow!"

badly do you want or need them?

One inquiry which I quoted yesterday, was: "If you happen to fall asleep, would anything serious happen?"

Generally, contacts are not worn while sleeping, but nothing serious would result from falling asleep while wearing them. It is better to remove them before going to sleep simply to lessen the irritation to the eyeball.

Some people wear contact lenses for short periods. Others wear them for the full waking period, 16 to 18 hours a day.

Contact lenses are being worn safely and successfully by all sorts of athletes, for swimming, hockey, baseball and football. A ball that would cause damage would be one that would cause it if contacts were not being worn.

Answer Need
Athletes, indeed, are one of several groups of people who have found real need for contact lenses. Actors use them, and others may use them in occupations in which ordinary spectacles would be hazardous, or ordinary spectacles might fog up. Contact lenses don't.

The question, "Are they as good as ordinary glasses?" is an impossible question to answer. Obviously, for some people they are better. For others they have no special advantage. In any event, anyone considering contact lenses should consult a reliable eye specialist.

dates for such lenses. Some try contacts, then go back to conventional glasses.

Bifocal Wearers

The final question, about bifocals, is one to which I cannot give a definite answer.

I understand that both of these are relatively new in contact lenses, and more or less experimental. Your own eye specialist would be the one to consult on that. And certainly you will, in that regard, want to keep in mind that if your eyes are changing, requiring new prescriptions from time to time, the matter of cost should be considered.

In short, the question of contact lenses is one that must be answered on the basis of an individual's needs and desires.

Weather Allergy

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been gun to wonder if I am not allergic to cold weather—Mrs. S.A.L.

It is indeed quite possible (although not very common) for a person to be allergic to cold. In such cases, the only answer I know is to bundle up, stay in the house in extreme weather, and live with the knowledge that cold bothers you. We can "desensitize" patients by injecting measured amounts of pollen, house dust or other offending materials; but you can't put "10" milligrams of cold" in a needle and inject it.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it; both mentally and physically, by reading by booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.
